See the instructions for line 25.

Tax credit for career extension

For 2025 onward, the age of eligibility has been raised from 60 to 65. This means that you cannot claim the credit if you were 60 to 64 years old on December 31, 2025. Changes have also been made to how the credit is calculated.

See the instructions for line 391.

Tax credit for home-support services for seniors

For 2025, the tax credit rate has been increased from 38% to 39%.

See the instructions for line 458.

Additional deductions for Québec resources

The additional deduction for certain Québec exploration expenses and the additional deduction for certain Québec surface mining exploration expenses have been eliminated in respect of flow-through shares issued after March 25, 2025 (exceptions apply).

Capital gains deduction on resource property

The capital gains deduction on resource property has been eliminated in respect of property disposed of (sold, transferred, exchanged, donated, etc.) after March 25, 2025 (exceptions apply). A new class of shares was created at the start of the capitalization period that began on March 1, 2025. Shares of the new class can be held for up to 14 years, and the tax credit rate is 25%. Also, a cumulative subscription ceiling of $45,000 per shareholder came into effect on March 26, 2025 (exceptions apply).

Québec prescription drug insurance plan

On July 1, 2025, the contribution rates for the Québec prescription drug insurance plan were increased, and the maximum premium was raised from $744 to $766. The maximum premium for 2025 is therefore $755.

You do not have to pay a premium if any of the following situations apply to you:

- You did not have a spouse on December 31, 2025, and the amount on line 275 of your return is $19,890 or less.
- You had a spouse on December 31, 2025, and the amount on line 275 of your return plus the amount on line 275 of your spouse's return totals $32,240 or less.
- You were born before January 1, 1960, and the total of your monthly Guaranteed Income Supplement (GIS) payments is at least 94% of the maximum for the year calculated without the top-up benefit.

Full indexation of the tax system

A number of other amounts have been increased, including the following:

- the deduction for workers (line 201);
- the basic personal amount (line 350);
- the income thresholds at which certain tax credits are reduced;
- the amount for a person living alone (line 20 of Schedule B);
- the age amount (line 22 of Schedule B); and
- the basic exemption for calculating the contribution to the health services fund (Schedule F).

- Refer to your RL slips to find out where in the return to report the information shown on them. (English courtesy translations of RL slips are available on our website.)

Filing your return

Using software

If you complete your income tax return using commercial software, you can file your completed return either:

- online, using NetFile Québec; or
- on paper, by printing your return and mailing it to us.

You can also have an accredited person file your return for you.

Filing online

When you file online, your return is processed faster because certain steps (such as mailing and manual processing) are eliminated. Also, you receive quick confirmation that your return has been received.

> NOTE
> If you file your return online, do not mail us a paper copy of your return or any of the related documents.

If you use commercial software to file your return, make sure that we have authorized it and that it can be used to file your return online. While most personal income tax returns can be filed online, certain restrictions apply. For more information, consult our website at revenuquebec.ca.

When you file your return online, you get a confirmation message with a reference number. Make sure you get one after filing.

If your software allows, you can file your return online even if this is your first time filing an income tax return.

For more information, go to our website.

Filing by mail

If you use commercial software to complete your return and are mailing your return along with the required documents (schedules and forms), make sure that:

- you enclose forms TPF-1.U-V, Income Tax Return Data, and TPF-1.W-V, Keying Summary for the Income Tax Return, as well as the following, as applicable:
  - form TPF-1.X-V, Keying Summary for the Schedules of the Income Tax Return and Forms TP-25-V, TP-274-V, TP-752.PC-V, TP-1029.SA-V, TP-1029.TM-V, TP-1029.61.MD-V, TP-21.4.39-V, LM-91-V and TP-1079.8.BE-V,
  - form TPF-1.Y-V, Keying Summary for Forms TP-128-V, TP-80-V, TP-80.AP-V and TP-80.1-V, and
  - form TPF-1.Z-V, Keying Summary for Form TP-1029.AE-V;
- you use white, letter-size paper;
- the print quality is good; and
- the authorization number is shown in the upper right-hand corner of the forms.

If you do not comply with all of these requirements, we may send back your return without processing it.

Using our forms

Mail your income tax return and the required schedules and forms to the following address:

Revenu Québec
3800, rue de Marly
Case postale 25555, succursale Terminus
Québec (Québec) G1A 1B9

RL slips, receipts and other supporting documents

If you are filing your return using software, do not send us any supporting documents with your return.

However, if you are filing your return using our paper forms, you must enclose any federal information slips concerning income earned outside Québec, as well as the documents referred to in the instructions for certain lines of the return. Do not enclose any other documents.

Filing deadlines

When can you file your return?

You can file your 2025 return online as early as mid-February 2026. For the exact date, go to revenuquebec.ca. However, we will not start processing returns until March 9, 2026.

When is your return due?

Your income tax return must be filed by April 30, 2026. If, in 2025, you or your spouse carried on a business or earned income as a person responsible for a family-type resource or an intermediate resource, you have until June 15, 2026, to file your return.

Payment

Any balance due for 2025 must be paid by April 30, 2026. After that date, we will calculate interest on the unpaid balance.

For information on payment methods and when payments are considered to have been received, see the instructions for line 479.

Penalties

If you file your return after the deadline and you have a balance due for the 2025 taxation year, you are liable to a 5% penalty on any balance not paid by the filing deadline. You are liable to an additional 1% penalty for every full month your return is late (up to a maximum of 12 months). For example, if your return was due by April 30, 2026, but you did not file it until July 20, 2026, you will be charged a penalty equal to 7% of the balance not paid by April 30, 2026 (5% plus 2% for the two full months your return was late).

> NOTE
> Even if you are unable to pay the full amount of your balance due by April 30, 2026, file your return no later than the filing deadline to avoid penalties.

Interest on a balance due

If you have a balance due for 2025 (line 479), we will charge you interest as of May 1, 2026, on any amount owing on that date.

However, we will not charge you interest on the part of your balance due that corresponds to the amount transferred by your spouse (line 477), provided your spouse's return is filed before May 1, 2026.

Interest on a refund

If you are entitled to an income tax refund (line 478) for the 2025 taxation year, the interest we pay you will be calculated as of:

- June 15, 2026, if you filed your return before May 1, 2026;
- the 46th day after the day you filed your return, if you filed your return after April 30, 2026.

How long do we have to review your income tax return?

When we receive your income tax return, we will carry out a cursory review and send you a notice of assessment.

We generally have three years from the date of the notice of assessment to carry out a more in-depth review and, if necessary, issue a notice of reassessment (interest will be calculated on any balance owing at that time). We may ask for RL slips, information slips, receipts or other documents supporting the information in your return, so be sure to keep them.

How long must you keep your supporting documents, records and books of account?

As a rule, you are required to keep your supporting documents (on paper or electronically) for at least six years following the taxation year to which they relate. If you file your income tax return late, keep them for six years after the date you file the return.

The same rule applies to the records and books of account you are required to keep when you operate a business. These documents may be kept either on paper or electronically and must contain the information that we need in order to verify your business income and expenses.

Communicating confidential information to your representative

If you want us to share information about your tax file or income tax return with a representative (such as your spouse or an accountant), complete and sign form MR-69-V, Authorization to Communicate Information or Power of Attorney. To cancel an authorization or power of attorney, use form MR-69.R-V, Revocation of Authorization to Communicate Information or of Power of Attorney.

Direct deposit

If you have an account at a financial institution with an establishment in Canada, you can register for direct deposit to have us deposit your refund directly into your account when we send your notice of assessment (or sooner, if you request an accelerated refund).

Direct deposit makes sense because:

- it eliminates the risk of your cheques being lost or stolen;
- it guarantees that your income tax refunds will be deposited in your account even if there is a postal strike or you are sick or away from home; and
- it is the only way you can receive payments of the solidarity tax credit and advance payments of tax credits.

Registering

You can register for direct deposit:

- by using the online services available at revenuquebec.ca (you must be registered for My Account for individuals);
- by enclosing a voided cheque with your name and social insurance number on it with your income tax return (the cheque must be from an account in your name at a financial institution with an establishment in Canada); or
- by completing a Request for Direct Deposit (form LM-3-V).

If applicable, attach the voided cheque or the form to page 1 of your return.

Changing your account information

If you are registered for direct deposit and you would like to have your payments deposited in a different account, enclose a voided cheque for the new account with your return. Your name and social insurance number must be written on the cheque. If you are unable to send us a voided cheque, complete a Request for Direct Deposit (form LM-3-V).

Cancelling direct deposit

Your registration for direct deposit will remain in effect until you cancel it in writing or by calling 1 800 267-6299 (toll-free). However, if you are entitled to the solidarity tax credit, you must be registered for direct deposit to receive it.

Instalment payments

Most individuals pay their income tax throughout the year through source deductions (amounts withheld from their income). However, if you have income from which tax is not withheld or not enough tax is withheld, you may be required to pay your income tax in instalments.

What are instalment payments?

Instalment payments are payments you make throughout the year to cover income tax for the current year, contributions to the Québec Pension Plan and the health services fund, and premiums payable under the Québec parental insurance plan and the Québec prescription drug insurance plan.

Who has to make them?

You will have to make instalment payments for the 2026 taxation year if you estimate that your net income tax payable for the year will be over $1,800 and your net income tax payable for 2025 or 2024 was over $1,800.

Your net income tax payable is your income tax payable for the year minus the total, for the same year, of the income tax withheld at source and your refundable tax credits. In calculating your net income tax payable, do not take into account:

- the QST rebate for employees and partners;
- the property tax refund for forest producers;
- the grant for seniors to offset a municipal tax increase;
- retirement income transferred from one spouse to the other that you included in or deducted from your income (line 123 or 245 of the return); or
- the transfer of income tax withheld from retirement income (line 451.1 or 451.3 of the return, as applicable).

When are they due?

Instalment payments must be made four times a year, by March 15, June 15, September 15 and December 15.

How are they calculated?

If your net income tax payable for 2024 was more than $1,800, we will send you form TPZ-1026.A-V, Instalment Payments Made by an Individual, in February and August to inform you of the payments you will be required to make if you expect your net income tax payable for 2026 to also exceed $1,800. We will use your 2024 income tax return to calculate your first two instalments for 2026 and your 2025 income tax return to calculate your last two instalments for 2026.

If your net income tax payable was $1,800 or less for 2024 but is more than $1,800 for 2025, we will send you form TPZ-1026.A-V in August to inform you of the payments you will be required to make for September and December 2026 if you expect your net income tax payable for 2026 to also exceed $1,800. We will use your 2025 income tax return to calculate both instalments.

If you do not receive form TPZ-1026.A-V, you must determine whether you have to make instalment payments by completing form TP-1026-V, Calculation of Instalment Payments to Be Made by Individuals, or contacting us.

If you received form TPZ-1026.A-V but would rather calculate your instalment payments yourself, use form TP-1026-V.

If you have to make instalment payments for 2026, we will charge interest, compounded daily, on every instalment (or portion thereof) that is not paid by the due date. For more information, see brochure IN-105-V, Instalment Payments of Income Tax.

Correcting an oversight

Changes to an income tax return you have already filed

If you want to make changes to your income tax return, do not file a new return. Instead, complete a Request for an Adjustment to an Income Tax Return (form TP-1.R-V). You can also request an adjustment to certain lines of your income tax return online using My Account for individuals at revenuquebec.ca. Restrictions apply.

> NOTE
> If you filed your return for 2025 or a previous year (2022 to 2024) using software, you can use that software to make the necessary changes.

Request for a refund for a previous year

Generally speaking, you can request a refund or adjustment to reduce your income tax payable by adjusting an income tax return filed for a taxation year that ended in one of the ten preceding calendar years. In 2026, for example, you can make such a request for the 2016 to 2025 taxation years. However, the ten-year rule does not apply in some cases, including the solidarity tax credit. If you forgot to claim the solidarity tax credit, see "Solidarity tax credit" on page 12.

For more information, contact us.

Voluntary disclosure

If you made errors or omissions in past returns that resulted in you not paying amounts due, you can usually correct the situation by making a voluntary disclosure to submit the information we never received. You will have to pay any unpaid amounts resulting from the disclosure, but you will benefit from the applicable relief measures under the voluntary disclosure program (provided your disclosure meets the conditions).

To make a voluntary disclosure, file form LM-15-V, Voluntary Disclosure, which is available on our website at revenuquebec.ca. You can also order a copy of the form online or by phone.

For more on voluntary disclosure and the conditions that must be met in order to make one, go to revenuquebec.ca.

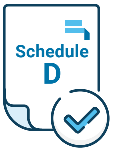
SOLIDARITY TAX CREDIT

There are three components to the solidarity tax credit:

- the QST component (which includes a basic amount, a spousal amount and an additional amount for a person who lived alone all year);
- the housing component;
- the component for individuals living in a northern village (see the definition below).

You may be eligible for the tax credit for the period from July 2026 to June 2027 if you met the requirements on December 31, 2025. See Schedule D for the full list of requirements and definitions of key terms.



Completing Schedule D is the only way to make sure that you receive the full amount of each component of the credit. If you are eligible but do not file Schedule D, you will only receive the basic amount of the QST component and the spousal amount, if applicable.

Northern village
A territory established as a municipality pursuant to the Act respecting Northern villages and the Kativik Regional Government. The northern villages are Akulivik, Aupaluk, Inukjuak, Ivujivik, Kangiqsualujjuaq, Kangiqsujuaq, Kangirsuk, Kuujjuaq, Kuujjuarapik, Puvirnituq, Quaqtaq, Salluit, Tasiujaq and Umiujaq.

Calculation of the credit

The tax credit for the period from July 2026 to June 2027 is based on your situation on December 31, 2025. To calculate your credit, we add the amounts you are entitled to under each of the three components. The result may be reduced on the basis of your family income.

Your family income is the amount on line 275 of your return plus, if you had a spouse on December 31, 2025, the amount on line 275 of your spouse's return.

If your family income is less than the maximum family income based on your situation on December 31, 2025, complete Schedule D. We will determine whether you are eligible.

To find the maximum family income based on your situation on December 31, 2025, go to revenuquebec.ca.

IMPORTANT
If your principal residence is located in a northern village, ignore the maximum family income and complete Schedule D.

You or your spouse was not resident in Canada throughout the year

If you or your spouse on December 31, 2025, was not resident in Canada for all or part of 2025, you must calculate your family income by taking into account all the income you and your spouse earned in the year, including income earned while not resident in Canada.

Proof of eligibility for the housing component

To receive the housing component, you must be able to prove that you or your spouse (if applicable) was the owner, tenant or subtenant of an eligible dwelling on December 31, 2025. Depending on your situation, you must enter the following information in Schedule D:

- If you or your spouse was the owner, enter the roll number or cadastral designation (the "numéro matricule" or "désignation cadastrale") shown on the municipal tax bill.
- If you or your spouse was a tenant* or *subtenant, enter the dwelling number shown in box A of the RL-31 slip issued by your landlord. If you have not received an RL-31 slip by mid-March 2026, see the instructions on page 2 of Schedule D.

NOTE
You may be eligible for the solidarity tax credit even if you lived in an ineligible dwelling, such as a dwelling in low-rental housing (HLM), on December 31, 2025. In such a case, we take into account only two components of the credit: the QST component and, where applicable, the component for individuals living in a northern village.

Payment of the credit

We will send you a notice showing your tax credit for the period from July 2026 to June 2027 and the information we took into consideration to calculate it. The amount of the credit will determine how often it is paid (see the table below).

Payment frequency

Tax credit	Payment frequency
$800 or more	Once a month
$241 to $799	Four times a year (July, October, January and April)
$240 or less	Once a year (July)

You will receive the payment within the first five days of the month.

NOTE
If you do not file Schedule D, you may not get your first payment until the fall.

Registering for direct deposit

As a rule, you must be registered for direct deposit to receive the solidarity tax credit. If you have not already registered, see "Registering" under "Direct deposit" on page 9 to find out how.

You must inform us of any changes to your banking information. You will lose your eligibility for the tax credit for the payment period from July 2026 to June 2027 if we are unable to deposit the tax credit by January 1, 2030.

Loss of entitlement to a payment

You cannot receive the solidarity tax credit for a given month if, immediately before the first day of the month, you are no longer resident in Québec or are confined to a prison or similar institution. If such a situation arises after you claim the credit, call us.

If your spouse received the credit for your couple and is confined to a prison or similar institution, you can receive the credit instead, provided you meet the conditions and claim it. For more information, contact us.

In the case of a deceased person, we will stop paying the credit in the month following the death. However, if your spouse received the tax credit for your couple and dies, you do not have to claim the credit for the current payment period. If you meet the eligibility requirements, we will pay you the remaining amounts once we have been notified of the death.

Deadline for claiming the credit

To receive the full solidarity tax credit for a given payment period, you must claim it no later than four years after the end of the taxation year used to calculate the credit for the period. Since the tax credit for the period from July 2026 to June 2027 is based on the 2025 taxation year, you must claim it by December 31, 2029. If you are not registered for direct deposit, you must include the registration form when you claim the credit.

You did not claim the solidarity tax credit in your return for a previous year

If you did not claim the solidarity tax credit in your 2022, 2023 or 2024 income tax return, refer to the table below to find out the deadline and procedure for claiming it.

Deadline for claiming the credit for a past payment period

Taxation year	Payment period	Deadline	Procedure
2024	July 1, 2025, to June 30, 2026	December 31, 2028	Complete Schedule D for 2024 and form TP-1.R-V, Request for an Adjustment to an Income Tax Return. If you did not file a 2024 income tax return, complete one and file it along with Schedule D.
2023	July 1, 2024, to June 30, 2025	December 31, 2027	Complete Schedule D for 2023 and form TP-1.R-V, Request for an Adjustment to an Income Tax Return. If you did not file a 2023 income tax return, complete one and file it along with Schedule D.
2022	July 1, 2023, to June 30, 2024	December 31, 2026	Complete Schedule D for 2022 and form TP-1.R-V, Request for an Adjustment to an Income Tax Return. If you did not file a 2022 income tax return, complete one and file it along with Schedule D.

11 Social insurance number

Make sure to enter your social insurance number on line 11 of your income tax return. We need it, for example, to inform Retraite Québec of the amount of your contribution to the Québec Pension Plan and of your earnings as a salaried employee, a self-employed person or a person responsible for a family-type or intermediate resource.

If the social insurance number on any of your RL slips is incorrect, notify the person who prepared the slip.

Special cases

- If you do not have a social insurance number, apply for one from Service Canada. If you applied for one but have not received it by the time you file your return, enclose a note with your return.
- If your social insurance number has changed since you last filed an income tax return, enclose an explanatory note with your return.

12 Your situation on December 31, 2025

The term spouse is different from the expression spouse on December 31, 2025. Be sure to read both definitions.

Spouse
A person who:
- was married to you;
- was living in a civil union with you; or
- was your de facto spouse.

NOTE
A de facto spouse is a person who, at any time in 2025:
- was living in a conjugal relationship with you and was the biological or adoptive parent (legally or in fact) of a child of whom you were also the parent; or
- had been living in a conjugal relationship with you for at least 12 consecutive months (if you were separated for fewer than 90 days, the 12-month period is considered not to have been interrupted).

Spouse on December 31, 2025
The person who:
- was your spouse at the end of that day and from whom you were not living separate and apart at that time; or
- was your spouse at the time of their death in 2025, provided you had not been living separate and apart at that time and you did not have a new spouse on December 31, 2025.

You are considered to have been living separate and apart only if your separation was due to the breakdown of your relationship and lasted 90 days or more.

Example 1

Luke and Justin have no children. They began living in a conjugal relationship on March 30, 2024, separated on January 15, 2025, and resumed living together two months later. Because their separation lasted fewer than 90 days, they are considered to have become de facto spouses on March 30, 2025 (that is, 12 months after they first began living together).

Example 2

Brenda's spouse Abdul died on May 18, 2025. Abdul and Brenda were not living apart on the date of his death, and Brenda did not have a new spouse on December 31, 2025. Abdul is therefore considered to have been Brenda's spouse on December 31, 2025.

Example 3

Kim and Dale have been living in a conjugal relationship for three years. They separated on December 1, 2025, but began living together again on January 10, 2026. Because their separation lasted fewer than 90 days, they are considered to have been spouses on December 31, 2025.

Example 4

Leila and Terry separated on November 15, 2025, and have not lived together since. Because they were separated on December 31, 2025, and their separation will have lasted more than 89 days, they are not considered to have been spouses on December 31, 2025.

Example 5

Mark and Jane have been married for 20 years. On August 5, 2025, Mark's illness led to him being admitted to a residential and long-term care centre (CHSLD). Given that their separation is a result of Mark's illness and not the breakdown of their relationship, they are considered to have been spouses on December 31, 2025.

Change in situation

If your situation is different from the one you entered on line 12 of your return for 2024, see the instructions for line 13.

13 Change in situation

If your situation on December 31, 2025, is different from the one you entered on line 12 of your return for 2024, make sure you enter the date of the change on line 13. Doing so ensures that any necessary changes will be made (for example, adjusting the amount of your Family Allowance payments from Retraite Québec).

Your spouse died in 2025

Your situation did not necessarily change if your spouse died in 2025. For example, you should check "Yes" on line 12 and leave line 13 blank if all of the following statements are true:

- Your spouse on December 31, 2024, died in 2025.
- You were not living separate and apart from your spouse at the time of their death.
- You did not have a new spouse on December 31, 2025.

17 Non-resident of Québec (province, territory or country of residence)

Are you a Québec resident?

Your status as a Québec resident depends chiefly on whether or not you have residential ties in Québec.

For more information, see IN-119-V, New Residents and Taxation.

Relocation outside Québec

If you leave Québec and sever the residential ties you had here, you may cease to be a Québec resident. The following factors will be taken into consideration:

- the residential ties you created elsewhere;
- the frequency and duration of your trips to Québec;
- the likelihood you will return to live in Québec.

If you return to Québec and re-establish your residential ties here, you will once again be considered a Québec resident.

For more on the criteria used to determine your residence status, see interpretation bulletin IMP. 22-3 (in French only) at publicationsduquebec.gouv.qc.ca.

Temporary absence from Québec

If you left Québec to work or study in another province, territory or country but maintained your residential ties here, your absence is considered temporary and you remain a Québec resident while you are away.

Temporary stay in Québec

You are considered to be in Québec temporarily if you came to work here for a set period of time and did not establish any residential ties here. If you did establish residential ties, you may be considered a Québec resident.

You were not resident in Canada throughout the year

If, at any point in the year, you were not resident in Canada, see the instructions for line 18.

18 Date of and reason for your arrival in or departure from Canada

If you were resident in Canada for only part of 2025, enter the date of your arrival or departure on line 18. In the box on line 18, enter the number from the list below that corresponds to your situation.

01 New resident of Canada
02 Temporary stay in Canada
03 Foreign student
04 Foreign farm worker
05 Emigrant
06 Temporary stay outside Canada
07 Other situation
08 Refugee protection claimant

Enclose the supporting documents that apply to your situation, such as:

- an explanatory note or any document that establishes your ties in Canada;
- a document from Immigration, Refugees and Citizenship Canada (IRCC);
- a valid work permit issued by IRCC;
- a certificate of acceptance issued by the Québec government;
- any other relevant document.

For more information, contact us.

01 New resident of Canada

You are considered to be a new resident of Canada if you left another country to settle in Canada and have established residential ties in Québec.

For more information, see IN-119-V, New Residents and Taxation.

02 Temporary stay in Canada

You are considered to be in Canada temporarily if you came to work in Québec for a set period of time and did not establish any residential ties here. If you did establish residential ties, you may be considered a Québec resident.

03 Foreign student

You are recognized as a foreign student if you came to study in Québec temporarily and you have a certificate of acceptance issued by the Québec government or a study permit issued by the Government of Canada.

04 Foreign farm worker

You are recognized as a foreign farm worker if you have a work permit issued by IRCC under one of the following streams of the Temporary Foreign Worker Program:

- the Seasonal Agricultural Workers Program; or
- the Agricultural Stream.

05 Emigrant

For income tax purposes, you are generally considered an emigrant if you have left Canada to settle permanently in another country and you have severed your residential ties with Canada.

You have severed your residential ties if, for example:

- you have disposed of or given up a home in Canada and established a permanent home in another country;
- your spouse and dependants have also left Canada; or
- you have sold your personal property and severed your social ties in Canada, and have acquired property or established social ties in another country.

See "Are you a Québec resident?" in the instructions for line 17.

06 Temporary stay outside Canada

If you left Canada to work or study but maintained your residential ties here, your absence is considered temporary and you remain a Québec resident while you are away.

07 Other situation

If none of the situations in points 1 to 6 or 8 apply to you, enclose an explanatory note with your return.

08 Refugee protection claimant

You are considered a refugee protection claimant if none of the situations in points 1 to 6 apply to you and both of the following are true:

- You have made a refugee protection claim with IRCC in order to be recognized as a refugee or protected person.
- On December 31, 2025, you had not yet received a notice of decision from the Immigration and Refugee Board of Canada (IRBC).

Note that you will be considered a refugee protection claimant until the IRBC recognizes you as a refugee or protected person.

19 Income earned while you were not resident in Canada

If you were not resident in Canada at some point in 2025, enter, on line 19, the total income that you earned during the period in which you were not resident in Canada and that is not subject to Québec income tax. You must report such income in Canadian dollars (see "Foreign currency" on page 19). If you had no income during that period, enter "0."

For more information, see IN-119-V, New Residents and Taxation.

20 Deceased person

If you are completing a deceased person's income tax return for the year of death or a previous year, write "Succession" after the deceased's name and enter the date of death on line 20. For more information, see the Guide to Filing the Income Tax Return of a Deceased Person (IN-117-V).

21 to 21.3 Bankruptcy

For detailed instructions on filing the income tax return for the year you declared bankruptcy, see IN-114-V, Bankruptcy.

22 Information return to be completed by the beneficiary of a designated trust

If you were resident in Québec on December 31, 2025, and you were the beneficiary of a designated trust, check the box on line 22 of your income tax return and complete form TP-671.9-V, Information Return of the Beneficiary of a Designated Trust. Enclose form TP-671.9-V with your income tax return.

Designated trust

Any trust resident in Canada, outside Québec, except:

- a unit trust (including a mutual fund trust);
- an employee trust;
- a trust governed by an employee benefit plan;
- a segregated fund trust;
- a religious or non-profit organization;
- a trust that was not resident in Canada throughout the year.

23 Separate returns

In some cases, you may have to file more than one income tax return for the year of a person's death. For example, you can choose to file up to three separate returns in addition to the person's principal return. If so, check box 23 on the principal return and each separate return filed for the year of death.

Reporting certain types of income in one or more separate returns can help reduce or cancel the income tax payable by the deceased.

For more information, see the Guide to Filing the Income Tax Return of a Deceased Person (IN-117-V).

24 Cryptoassets

Transactions involving cryptoassets as a method of payment or exchange are generally considered barter transactions. As a result, there may be tax consequences if you:

- use cryptoassets to acquire goods or services;
- convert them to monetary currency;
- exchange them for other cryptoassets; or
- use them to make a donation.

Likewise, there may also be tax consequences if you engage in cryptoasset mining.

If, in 2025, you owned, received or disposed of (sold, transferred, exchanged, donated, etc.) cryptoassets or used them in a transaction, you must complete a Cryptoasset Return (form TP-21.4.39-V) and file it with your income tax return. Failure to do so may result in penalties.

To report income from using or mining cryptoassets, you need to determine whether it constitutes a capital gain (or loss) or business or property income (or loss). To help you do so, refer to guides IN-120-V, Capital Gains and Losses, and IN-155-V, Business and Professional Income.

25 Foreign property

If you held property outside Canada in 2025 and both of the following conditions are met, you must report it:

- the property is designated foreign property;
- the total cost of the property was more than CAD 100,000 at any time during the year.

Designated foreign property

Designated foreign property includes, among others:

- funds or incorporeal property (for example, patents and copyrights) situated, deposited or held outside Canada;
- corporeal property situated outside Canada;
- a share of the capital stock of a corporation not resident in Canada held by you or your legal or authorized representative;
- an interest in a trust not resident in Canada that was acquired for consideration (other than an interest in a non-resident trust that is a foreign affiliate);
- a share of a corporation resident in Canada held by or for you outside Canada;
- an interest in a partnership that holds designated foreign property but is not required to report it;
- an interest in, or rights with respect to, an entity not resident in Canada;
- property that is convertible into, is exchangeable for, or confers a right to acquire designated foreign property;
- indebtedness owed by a person not resident in Canada, including government and corporate bonds, debentures, mortgages and notes receivable;
- an interest in a foreign insurance policy;
- precious metals, gold certificates and futures contracts held outside Canada.

Property used or held exclusively in the course of carrying on an active business and personal-use property are not considered designated foreign property.

To report designated foreign property, complete a Foreign Property Return (TP-1079.8.BE-V). You must send it to us it by the filing deadline for your income tax return (April 30 or, if you or your spouse carried on a business, June 15) even if you are not required to file an income tax return for the year. Failure to file the form could lead to penalties.

Note that you do not need to file form TP-1079.8.BE-V if you became a resident of Canada in 2025.

51 Your spouse's net income

Enter on line 51 the amount from line 275 of your spouse's income tax return (your spouse on December 31, 2025).

Special cases

- If your spouse was resident in Québec for only part of the year, you must take into account their income for the entire year (including income earned while not resident in Québec).
- If your spouse declared bankruptcy in 2025, you must take into account their income for the entire year.
- If your spouse died in 2025, you must take into account the income reported in the main return and in any separate returns filed for the year of death.

TOTAL INCOME

In general, any amount that is earned, whatever its source, is income.

Foreign currency

Amounts earned in foreign currency must be reported in Canadian dollars. To convert them, use the exchange rate in effect when you earned them. You can use the average exchange rate for the year if the amounts were received over the entire year. To find out the exchange rate, consult the Bank of Canada website at bank-banque-canada.ca.

Non-taxable amounts

Do not include the following in your income:

- the shelter allowance;
- the value of property received as an inheritance;
- amounts received under a life insurance policy further to the death of the insured;
- the Family Allowance from Retraite Québec;
- federal child benefits;
- the Canada Disability Benefit;
- the solidarity tax credit;
- the tax credits respecting the work premium;
- the GST credit;
- lottery winnings (however, if you sell lottery tickets, any amount you receive for having sold a winning ticket must be included in your business income);
- strike pay;
- benefits received under a wage loss replacement plan or an income insurance plan, other than a plan to which your employer made a contribution;
- as a rule, income, gains and losses arising from investments held in a tax-free savings account (TFSA) or a first home savings account (FHSA).

NOTE
Income that you earn from non-taxable amounts, such as interest income on lottery winnings, is taxable.

Retroactive payments and support-payment arrears

If you received a retroactive payment in 2025, you must report it on the appropriate line of the return. If at least $300 of the payment applies to previous years, we can, at your request, determine whether it is to your advantage to average that portion of the payment. If it is, we will calculate the income tax payable on that portion of the payment as if you had received it in the previous years concerned and will deduct it from your taxable income for 2025. We will then enter a tax adjustment on line 443. To find out what amounts can be averaged, see form TP-766.2-V, Averaging of a Retroactive Payment, Support-Payment Arrears or a Repayment of Support.

If you want us to do the calculation, report the payments on the appropriate line(s) of your return and check box 404. Also complete form TP-766.2-V and enclose it with your return. If you complete Part 4 of the form, check box 405 of your return.

IMPORTANT
We cannot average your retroactive payments in the following cases:

- You received a compensation adjustment under the Pay Equity Act.
- During the year, you received a retroactive payment that you are deducting in the calculation of your taxable income (for example, a retroactive payment of income replacement indemnities or compensation for the loss of financial support).
- You are transferring part of a retroactive payment of eligible retirement income to your spouse on December 31, 2025. Neither you nor your spouse can have the transferred portion of the retroactive payment averaged.

Transfer of property

If you transferred or loaned property to one of the people listed below, you must report the income (such as dividends or interest) that they earned from the property:

- your spouse; or
- a person who was born after December 31, 2007, and who was:
  - related to you by blood, marriage, civil union or adoption, or
  - your niece or nephew.

However, you are not required to report income from property that you transferred to your spouse so that they could contribute to a tax-free savings account (TFSA) or a first home savings account (FHSA), provided their contributions do not exceed the available contribution room of either account.

You may have made an overpayment even if the amount you entered on line 97 is less than $484.12. If that is the case, we will enter the overpayment on line 457.

If the total of your employment income, your net business income and your insurable earnings as a person responsible for a family-type resource or an intermediate resource is less than $2,000, carry the amount from line 97 to line 457.

Send the completed form to us and give a copy to your employer.

Deduction for QPP and CPP contributions

If you entered an amount on line 98 and, if applicable, line 98.2, and you did not earn income from self-employment, complete Part B of Schedule U to calculate the amount to enter on line 248. You must include on line 101 the employment income you earned outside Québec:

- If you worked outside Canada, check box 94 of your return.
- If the income was earned in Canada and you did not receive an RL-1 slip, check box 95 and enclose a copy of your T4 slip with your return.

If either of the above situations applies, complete Schedule R to find out whether you are required to pay a Québec parental insurance plan (QPIP) premium.

Emergency services volunteers

The tax-exempt portion of the remuneration paid to you as an emergency services volunteer (box L-2 of your RL-1 slip) must be included in your income if you are claiming the non-refundable tax credit for volunteer firefighters and search and rescue volunteers. Eligible retirement income includes:
- the income reported on line 122; and
- the amount entered on line 154 (point 3) as life annuity payments under a retirement compensation arrangement, if certain conditions are met (contact us for more information).

Your spouse was resident in Canada, outside Québec

If you are transferring part of your retirement income to your spouse, who was resident in Canada, outside Québec, the amount you deduct on line 245 must be the same as the amount you are deducting on line 21000 of your federal income tax return.

123 Retirement income transferred by your spouse

The taxable amount of dividends from taxable Canadian corporations is the total of the following amounts:

- the amount from box I of your RL-16 slip;
- the amount from box F of your RL-25 slip; and
- the amounts from boxes 6-1 to 6-3 of your RL-15 slip.

If you did not receive one or more of the above-mentioned RL slips, the amounts are shown on your T3, T4PS, T5 and T5013 slips.

If you did not receive RL slips or other information slips for certain dividends, you can determine the amount to be reported by multiplying the actual amount of the dividends by the following rates:
- 138% for eligible dividends;
- 115% for ordinary dividends.

If you do not know what type of dividends you received, contact the payer of the dividends.

Reporting dividends

- the taxable amount of all your dividends on line 128;
- the actual amount of all your eligible dividends on line 166;
- the actual amount of all your ordinary dividends on line 167.

130 Interest and other investment income

Interest

As a rule, interest you must report is shown on your RL-3, RL-13, RL-15 and RL-16 slips or, if you did not receive them, on your T3, T5 and T5013 slips. You must also report any interest for which you did not receive RL slips or other information slips, including interest you received in 2025 on a loan made to an individual and on income tax refunds.

Methods for reporting interest

There are three methods for reporting interest from investment contracts (bonds, savings bonds, term deposits, bearer debt obligations, etc.): the cash method, the accrual method and the receivable method. You can use a different method for each investment contract.

Joint accounts

If you held an account jointly with another person, report only the interest corresponding to your contribution to the account.

Bearer debt obligations

You can calculate the interest you earned on bearer debt obligations, such as Treasury bills or bank acceptances, using your RL-18 slip, statements of account or transaction records.

If you cashed in or disposed of (sold, transferred, exchanged, donated, etc.) the securities after the maturity date, the difference between the proceeds of disposition (box 21 of the RL-18 slip) and the price you paid for the securities constitutes interest income.

If you cashed in or disposed of the securities before the maturity date, the difference between the proceeds of disposition and the price you paid for the securities may also constitute a capital gain or loss. For more information, contact us.

Other investment income

You must report other investment income, such as:

- your investment income, which may be shown in box E of your RL-3 slip and in box G of your RL-16 slip;
- your gross foreign investment income, which may be shown in box F of your RL-3 slip, box 8 of your RL-15 slip or box F of your RL-16 slip;
- your foreign income shown in box E of your RL-16 slip (this income constitutes property income);
- your royalties, which may be shown in box H of your RL-3 slip;
- interest on the sale of linked notes, which may be shown in box K of the RL-3 slip;
- the benefits you received as a shareholder of a corporation, which may be shown in box O of your RL-1 slip. Do not report on line 130 the amount to be included in the calculation of your income for an advance or a loan that was not repaid, but enter it on line 154;
- investment income accrued after the death of the holder of a trusteed tax-free savings account (TFSA) and paid to you in the year. This income is shown in box O of the RL-1 slip.

Foreign investments

Your gross foreign investment income must be reported in Canadian dollars. To convert it, use the exchange rate in effect when you received it or when it was credited to you. You can use the average exchange rate for the year if you received the income over the entire year. To find out the exchange rate, consult the Bank of Canada website at bank-banque-canada.ca.

You may be entitled to a foreign tax credit. See the instructions for line 409.

136 Rental income

You must report your rental income. Your net income is your gross rental income, minus the expenses you incurred during the year to earn this income, minus capital cost allowance (where applicable).

Do not use line 136 to report income from the rental of property if the income constitutes business income. Report this income on line 22 of Schedule L.

With your return, enclose either a copy of form TP-128-V, Income and Expenses Respecting the Rental of Immovable Property, or a statement of your rental income and expenses. A separate form or statement must be enclosed for each immovable from which you derived rental income.

Financial assistance received as a result of a disaster

If you received financial assistance as a result of a disaster, see guide IN-125-V, The Tax Effects of Financial Assistance Received as a Result of a Disaster.

Member of a partnership

If you were a member of a partnership, your share of the partnership's income (or losses) from the rental of property is shown in box 3 of your RL-15 slip or in the partnership's financial statements.

If you are reporting a loss from a partnership of which you were a specified member, see the instructions for line 260 and complete Schedule N.

Supporting documents

If you did not receive an RL-15 slip, enclose a copy of the partnership's financial statements with your income tax return.

Labour costs

If you incurred labour costs (other than salaries and wages paid to your employees) in order to maintain land or maintain, repair or renovate a building from which you derived rental income, you must provide information about every person or business that carried out the work. Complete form TP-1086.R.23.12-V, Costs Incurred for Work on an Immovable, and enclose it with your return. If you do not provide the information, you are liable to a penalty.

Rental loss

On line 136, enter the amount of any rental loss you sustained, preceded by a minus sign (–), and subtract the amount instead of adding it. Note that for rental property, you cannot claim the portion of the capital cost allowance that creates or increases a rental loss.

For more information, see brochure IN-100-V, Individuals and Rental Income.

139 Taxable capital gains

You must report all capital gains (or losses) resulting from:

- the disposition of capital property (including cryptoassets) in 2025, whether voluntary (sale, transfer, exchange, donation, etc.), involuntary (expropriation, theft, etc.) or deemed (death, change in use, damage, emigration, etc.);
- a capital gain (or loss) realized in 2025 (for example, a gain for which you received an RL-16 slip from a trust or an RL-15 slip from a partnership);
- a reserve you deducted in 2024.

You may have to report a capital gain (or loss) resulting from the disposition of the following:

- personal-use property (automobile, cottage, boat, furniture, etc.), if the proceeds of disposition are more than $1,000;
- precious property (jewellery, coins, paintings, stamps, etc.), if the proceeds of disposition are more than $1,000;
- residential property (including rental property or a right to purchase) that you owned for less than 365 consecutive days, if the disposition is not considered property flipping;
- publicly traded securities for which you received an RL-18 slip, a statement of account or a transaction record;
- resource property (flow-through shares, interest in a partnership that invested in flow-through shares, etc.);
- qualified farm or fishing property or qualified small business corporation shares (including shares disposed of as part of an intergenerational business transfer);
- shares disposed of as part of a qualifying business transfer.

To calculate your capital gains (or losses), complete Schedule G. However, you can choose not to complete Schedule G if you meet both of the following conditions:

- You are filing your return on paper.
- You realized capital gains for which you received only:
  - an RL-3 slip with an amount in box I;
  - an RL-16 slip with an amount in box A.

In this case, use the amounts from the above-mentioned boxes of your RL slips to calculate your taxable capital gains. See the example below.

Example — Calculating capital gains without completing Schedule G

For the 2025 taxation year, you received the following two RL slips:

- an RL-3 slip with $100 in box I;
- an RL-16 slip with $220 in box A.

To calculate your capital gains, add box I of your RL-3 slip and box A of your RL-16 slip. Your total capital gains are therefore $320 ($100 + $220).

To calculate your taxable capital gains, multiply your total capital gains by 50%. For 2025, your total taxable capital gains are $160 ($320 × 50% = $160). Carry the result to line 139 of your return.

If you do not meet the above-mentioned conditions or if you sustained a capital loss, complete Schedule G. If you want to designate a property as your principal residence, complete Part A of Schedule G.

Schedule G is available at revenuquebec.ca. You can also order it online or by phone.

IMPORTANT

If, in 2025, you owned, received or disposed of (sold, transferred, exchanged, donated, etc.) cryptoassets or used them in a transaction, complete a Cryptoasset Return (form TP-21.4.39-V) to calculate the resulting capital gains (or losses) and file it with your income tax return. Failure to do so could lead to penalties.

For more information on capital gains and losses, see guide IN-120-V, Capital Gains and Losses.

142 Support payments received

As a rule, you must report the support payments you received in 2025 under a written agreement or a judgment, if you received them as an allowance payable periodically for your benefit or the benefit of your child and you were not living with the payer at the time the payments were made. However, if you are covered by the measures under which child support is non-taxable for the recipient and non-deductible for the payer, see "Tax treatment of child support" below and complete Work Chart 142.

Repayment of support

If you made support payments that you deducted on line 225 of your income tax return for a previous year, but an amount was repaid to you in 2025 further to a court order, the repayment may be subject to a tax adjustment. Enter the repayment on line 142 and see "Tax adjustment" in the instructions for line 443.

Tax treatment of child support

In general, child support paid under a written agreement entered into or a judgment rendered after April 30, 1997, cannot be deducted by the person who made the payments and does not have to be included in the income of the person who received them.

Child support
Any support payment that is intended neither solely for the benefit of the payer's spouse or former spouse nor solely for the benefit of the parent of a child of whom the payer is also the parent.

Payments received under the support-payment collection program

If we paid you a taxable amount in 2025 as child support or as support for your benefit only, enter it on line 142. If the amount paid to you as support is non-taxable, complete Work Chart 142. See "Support-payment arrears" below if any portion of the amount you received constitutes arrears.

Non-taxable support owing to you on December 31, 2024
(line 2 of Work Chart 142)

On line 2 of Work Chart 142, enter the non-taxable amount of support that you should have received for 1997 through 2024 but had not received by December 31, 2024. If you completed Work Chart 142 in 2024 and the amount on line 5 was negative, enter that amount on line 2 of Work Chart 142 for 2025.

Carry-forward of non-taxable support
(line 5 of Work Chart 142)

If the amount on line 5 of Work Chart 142 is negative (that is, if the amount of child support that you should have received is greater than the amount that you actually received), you will have to take the difference into account in your 2026 income tax return.

Support-payment arrears

If you received support-payment arrears that you are required to include in your income, enter them on line 142. The amount of support-payment arrears you include on line 142 may be subject to a tax adjustment. See "Tax adjustment" in the instructions for line 443.

07 Net federal supplements

If you received income replacement indemnities, compensation for the loss of financial support or net federal supplements, report the amount you received on line 148. The amount you enter on line 148 entitles you to a deduction on line 295.

If you received compensation for the loss of financial support or any of the income replacement indemnities described in points 1, 2, 3, 5 and 6, you may be required to adjust the amount of your non-refundable tax credits. See the instructions for line 358.

If you repaid income replacement indemnities, see the instructions for line 246.

Indemnities received for previous years

If, in 2025, you received income replacement indemnities that were owed to you for 2004 to 2024, or compensation for the loss of financial support that was owed to you for 2005 to 2024, we will calculate a tax adjustment on line 443.

Please note that, in the case of income replacement indemnities or compensation for the loss of financial support received for previous years, your retroactive payments cannot be averaged.

For more information, contact us.

If you are the sole beneficiary of a death benefit for a deceased person, you are entitled to an exemption of up to $10,000, whether the benefit is paid to you in one year or over several years. If, in 2025, you incurred expenses respecting a grant that was included in your income for 2024, you can deduct these expenses from your income for 2024, as long as you do not use them to reduce the amount of a grant received in 2025. - form TP-80-V, Business or Professional Income and Expenses, if your income does not come from farming or fishing;
- form TP-80.AP-V, Farming or Fishing Income and Expenses, if your income comes from farming or fishing.

If, in 2025, you disposed of (sold, transferred, exchanged, donated, etc.) a residential property (including rental property or a right to purchase) that you owned for less than 365 consecutive days and no life event justified the disposition, we consider that you flipped the property. 09 Deduction for legal fees

You can deduct the legal or extrajudicial fees you paid in 2025 to collect a salary, wages or wage loss replacement benefits (where your employer contributed to the wage loss replacement plan), or to establish your entitlement to the salary, wages or benefits, whether or not it has been determined that an amount is owed to you.

12 Deduction for the repayment of a salary, wages or wage loss replacement benefits

You can deduct the amounts included in your income for 2025 or a previous year, provided you meet both of the following conditions:

- You received the amounts for a period in which you were not carrying out your employment duties.

To claim this deduction, enter the amount shown in box A-3 or box O-4 of your RL-1 slip. If you repaid an amount to the insurer that administered your wage loss replacement plan, keep the document confirming the repayment in case we ask for it.

If the repayment of a salary, wages or wage loss replacement benefits is greater than your total income from all sources, you can use the excess to reduce your income for the previous three years or for the next twenty years. If you want to reduce your income for previous years, complete form TP-1012.A-V, Carry-Back of a Loss, and file it separately from your return.

At your request, we may authorize you to use the excess to reduce your income for the year in which the amount you repaid was included in your income, even if that year is more than three years before the year of the repayment. For more information, contact us.

Repayment of an amount included in your income for a previous year and deducted from your taxable income for that year

If, in 2025, you repaid a salary, wages or wage loss replacement benefits that you included in your income for a previous year and deducted in calculating your taxable income (line 293 or 297) for the previous year in question, also enter the amount of the repayment on line 276.

Such expenses or deductions include:

- the contribution you made under a retirement compensation arrangement. This amount is shown in box D-1 of your RL-1 slip;
- allocations that were cancelled when you ceased to be a beneficiary under a profit-sharing plan. This amount is shown in box E of your RL-25 slip;
- the deduction for an excess amount from a profit-sharing plan on which you must pay a special tax. This deduction is equal to the amount on line 5 of form TP-1129.RI-V, Special Tax on an Excess Amount Under a Profit-Sharing Plan. The special tax you are required to pay must be included on line 443 of your return.

214 RRSP or PRPP/VRSP deduction

The amount you can deduct for contributions that you made to your registered retirement savings plan (RRSP), to a spousal RRSP or to a pooled registered pension plan (PRPP), including a voluntary retirement savings plan (VRSP), corresponds to the RRSP or PRPP deduction entered on line 20800 of your federal income tax return for 2025.

>
> In the federal income tax return, the term "pooled registered pension plan (PRPP)" refers to both PRPPs and VRSPs.

Transfer to an RRSP or to a PRPP/VRSP

If the amount on line 20800 of your federal income tax return includes amounts deducted as transfers, do not take them into account on line 214. Enter them on line 250 instead.

Repayment of amounts withdrawn from an RRSP under the Home Buyers' Plan (HBP) or the Lifelong Learning Plan (LLP) (line 212)

If you made RRSP or PRPP/VRSP contributions in 2025 or the first 60 days of 2026 and withdrew amounts from an RRSP in previous years under the HBP or the LLP, you can designate an amount as a repayment on line 212.

225 Support payments made (deductible amount)

Under certain conditions, you can deduct the support payments you made in 2025 as an allowance payable periodically further to a written agreement or a judgment, if you made the payments to your spouse or former spouse, the mother or father of your child, or a third party for the benefit of the child and/or one of these people.

You are not entitled to a deduction if you were living with the recipient at the time the payments were made. If you are covered by the measures under which child support is non-taxable for the recipient and non-deductible for the payer, see "Tax treatment of child support" below and complete Work Chart 225.

If you paid support for the benefit of more than one person, write the name and social insurance number of the other beneficiary or beneficiaries on a separate sheet and enclose it with your return.

Tax treatment of child support

In general, child support (see the definition at line 142) paid under a written agreement entered into or a judgment rendered after April 30, 1997, cannot be deducted by the person who made the payments and does not have to be included in the income of the person who received them.

For more information, see guide IN-128-V, The Tax Effects of Separation and Divorce.

Payments made under the support-payment collection program

If the support payments you made to us in 2025 are deductible, enter the total amount of the payments on line 225. However, if the amount you paid as support is non-deductible, complete Work Chart 225. See "Support-payment arrears" below if any portion of the payments you made constitutes arrears.

Non-deductible support owing on December 31, 2024 (line 2 of Work Chart 225)

On line 2 of Work Chart 225, enter the amount of non-deductible support that you were required to pay for 1997 through 2024, but had not paid by December 31, 2024. If you completed Work Chart 225 for 2024 and the amount on line 5 was negative, enter that amount on line 2 of Work Chart 225 for 2025.

Carry-forward of non-deductible support (line 5 of Work Chart 225)

If the amount on line 5 of Work Chart 225 is negative, that is, if the amount of child support that you were required to pay is greater than the amount that you actually paid, you will have to take the difference into account in your 2026 income tax return.

Support-payment arrears

If you paid support-payment arrears that entitle you to a deduction, enter on line 225 the portion of the arrears applicable to 2025 and previous years. If the portion of the arrears applicable to previous years is $300 or more, enter it on line 276 as well and check box 404 of your return. In such a case, you must also complete form TP-766.2-V, Averaging of a Retroactive Payment, Support-Payment Arrears or a Repayment of Support, and enclose it with your return. We will calculate a tax adjustment that may reduce your income tax for the year.

228 Moving expenses

You can deduct the moving expenses you paid in 2025 if you meet both of the following conditions:

- You moved in order to take up employment duties, carry on a business, practise a profession or attend an educational institution where you were enrolled full time in a post-secondary program.
- Your new residence is at least 40 kilometres closer to your new place of study or work (even if your work is seasonal).

Generally, only expenses for moving from one location to another in Canada are deductible, unless they were incurred at a time when you were living outside Canada temporarily.

The deduction you can claim is limited to the net income that you earned in 2025 at your new place of work.

Students

If you moved in 2025, you can deduct your moving expenses in accordance with the rules outlined above.

However, if you moved in 2025 to be at least 40 kilometres closer to the institution where you were enrolled full time in a post-secondary program, the deduction you can claim is limited to the net amount of the research grants you received (see point 3(j) in the instructions for line 154).

Moving expenses not deducted

If you moved and you paid moving expenses in a year following the year of your move, you can deduct the expenses in the year you paid them. You can also deduct the portion of the moving expenses that you could not deduct from your income for a previous year.

Copyrights include public lending rights.

You can claim this deduction if the total copyright income included in your business income or shown in box H-2 of your RL-3 slip is less than $60,000. To calculate the amount you can claim, complete Work Chart 297.

17 Deduction for shares received in exchange for mining property

If you disposed of (sold, transferred, exchanged, donated, etc.) shares in a corporation that you received in exchange for disposing of mining property or a right to such property in favour of the corporation while you were a prospector, you can deduct 50% of the amount included in your 2025 income (the fair market value of the shares when you acquired or disposed of them, whichever is less).

19 Deduction for foreign professors

Your deduction is equal to the result of the following calculation: Add the deductions you are claiming on lines 105, 205 and 207 for income entitling you to the deduction for foreign professors. Multiply the total by the exemption rate shown in box A-14 of your RL-1 slip. Subtract the result from the amount shown in box A-13 of your RL-1 slip.

20 Deduction for foreign farm workers

If you were not resident in Canada in 2025 but you spent at least 183 days in Québec, you can claim a deduction equal to the result of the following calculation: Subtract, from the remuneration you received in 2025 for employment held in Québec as a foreign farm worker, the deductions related to that employment. Multiply the result by 50%.

If you spent fewer than 183 days in Québec, contact us.

- The sales are non-retail sales made to a buyer with an establishment in Québec.
- You were resident in Québec on December 31, 2025.

You must then include all or part of the amount deducted for the year in your taxable income for one or more of the next seven or ten years. See point 8 in the instructions for line 276.

Enclose the following with your tax return:

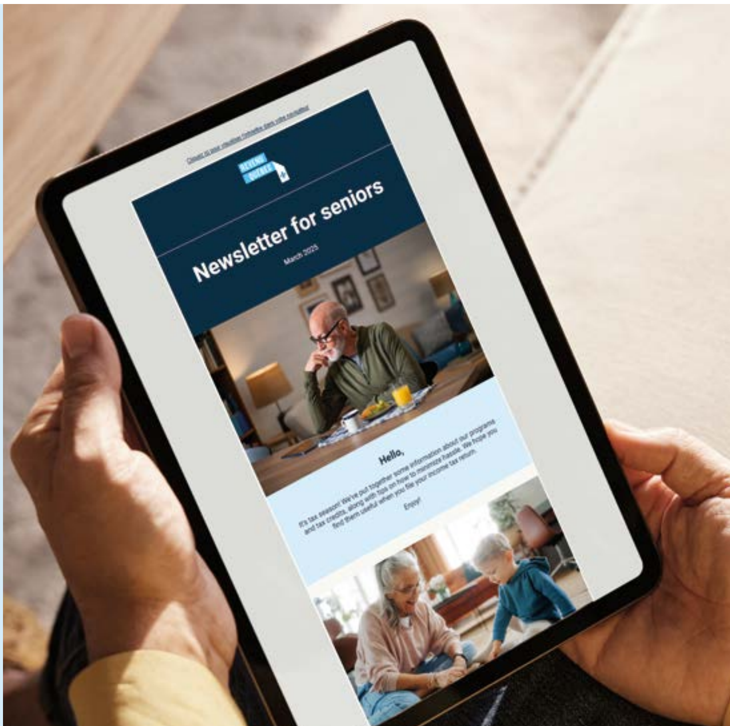
- During the year, you disposed of (sold, transferred, exchanged, donated, etc.) a share covered by the election or ceased to be resident in Canada.

The deduction is equal to 50% of the amount included in your income for 2025 in respect of the disposition of the share (the amount by which the fair market value of the share when you acquired it exceeds its cost at the time).



NON-REFUNDABLE TAX CREDITS

There are two types of tax credits: refundable and non-refundable. Refundable tax credits are paid to you even if you have no income tax payable, whereas non-refundable tax credits reduce or cancel your income tax payable.

You were not resident in Canada throughout the year

350 Basic personal amount

The basic personal amount for 2025 is $18,571. It takes into account contributions to the Québec Pension Plan and the health services fund, and premiums under the Québec parental insurance plan and the Employment Insurance program.

358 Adjustment for income replacement indemnities

Income replacement indemnities from the Commission des normes, de l'équité, de la santé et de la sécurité du travail (CNESST) or the Société de l'assurance automobile du Québec (SAAQ)

If you were resident in Québec on December 31, 2025, and you received income replacement indemnities or compensation for the loss of financial support from the CNESST or the SAAQ, enter the amount from box M of your RL-5 slip (maximum $16,713.90).

This will reduce the basic personal amount for 2025, which was taken into account in calculating your indemnities or compensation.

If, in 2025, you received income replacement indemnities or compensation for the loss of financial support owed to you for one or more previous years, and one or more amounts are shown in box O of your RL-5 slip, we will calculate a tax adjustment for you on line 443.

In calculating the tax adjustment for the previous year(s) concerned, we can, at your request, include the carry-over of non-capital losses or non-refundable tax credits. If you want us to do so, check box 405 of your return, complete Part 4 of form TP-766.2-V, Averaging of a Retroactive Payment, Support-Payment Arrears or a Repayment of Support, and enclose the form with your return.

Income replacement indemnities received under a law of Canada or a province other than Québec

If, under a law of Canada or a province other than Québec, you received income replacement indemnities or compensation for the loss of financial support based on your net employment income and relating to a period in 2025, complete form TP-752.0.0.6-V, Adjustment for Income Replacement Indemnities Received from a Public Compensation Plan Outside Québec, and enclose it with your return. (Income replacement indemnities include workers' compensation and indemnities received further to a precautionary cessation of work, a traffic accident or an act of good citizenship, or because you were the victim of a crime.)

If you received income replacement indemnities or compensation for the loss of financial support that was not based on your net employment income (for example, benefits from the Workplace Safety and Insurance Board [WSIB] of Ontario received further to an accident that occurred before April 1, 1985), you do not have to calculate an adjustment using form TP-752.0.0.6-V.

Contact us if:

- in 2025, you received income replacement indemnities that were owed to you for 2004 to 2024; or
- in 2025, you received compensation for the loss of financial support that was owed to you for 2005 to 2024.

> NOTE
> If you are an Indian and you received any of the previously mentioned indemnities, do not include the income replacement indemnities situated on a reserve or premises in calculating the adjustment to be entered on line 358. An indemnity is considered to be situated on a reserve or premises if the income entitling you to the indemnity was situated on a reserve or premises.

The age amount, the amount for a person living alone and the amount for retirement income may be reduced on the basis of net family income.

- a disability pension or an additional amount for disability for a recipient of a retirement pension under the Québec Pension Plan (box C-4c of the RL-2 slip);

If you meet the conditions and do not claim the amount for a person living alone in your income tax return, we will grant it to you automatically.

NOTE
A room in a hotel establishment or a rooming house is not a dwelling.

If you and your spouse on December 31, 2025, are living separate and apart for a reason other than the breakdown of your relationship, one or both of you may be able to enter an amount on line 20 of Schedule B. If your spouse completes their own Schedule B, you must both enter the same amount on line 20. For more information, contact us.

To calculate the amount you can claim, complete parts A and B of Schedule B.

NOTE
Keep any documents that support your claim for the amount for a person living alone (school and municipal tax bills, lease, home insurance policy, phone and utility bills, etc.).

Additional amount for a person living alone (single-parent family) (line 21 of Schedule B)

The additional amount for a person living alone (single-parent family) is $2,627.

You can claim this amount if you are entitled to the amount for a person living alone and you meet both of the following conditions:

- At any time in 2025, you lived with a child 18 or over who can transfer an amount to you as a child 18 or over enrolled in post-secondary studies (line 367 of your return) or who could have transferred such an amount to you if they had not earned any income.
- For the month of December 2025, you were not entitled to the Family Allowance payment from Retraite Québec.

Reduction of the additional amount for a person living alone (single-parent family)

The additional amount for a person living alone (single-parent family) must be reduced if, at any time in 2025, you were entitled to the Family Allowance from Retraite Québec. To calculate the additional amount to which you are entitled, use the work chart opposite.

NOTE
If you are entitled to the amount for a person living alone only because of the Basic Income Program benefits included in your income, you are not eligible for the additional amount for a person living alone.

To calculate the amount you can claim, complete parts A and B of Schedule B.

You or your spouse did not reside in Canada throughout the year

If, for all or part of the year, you or your spouse on December 31, 2025, was not resident in Canada, do not reduce the amount on line 34 of Schedule B in proportion to the number of days you were resident in Canada in 2025. Instead, determine your net family income (Part A of Schedule B) by taking into account all of the income that you and your spouse earned, including income earned while you or your spouse was not resident in Canada.

376 Amount for a severe and prolonged impairment in mental or physical functions

Enter $4,123 if you were 18 or older and had a severe and prolonged impairment in mental or physical functions in 2025. The impairment must be certified by a physician, a specialized nurse practitioner, an optometrist, an audiologist, a speech-language pathologist (speech therapist), an occupational therapist, a psychologist or a physiotherapist, as applicable.

This amount may be reduced or cancelled if you turned 18 during the year. For more information, see "Reduction of the amount for a severe and prolonged impairment in mental or physical functions" opposite.

Your impairment is considered severe and prolonged if it has lasted (or is expected to last) for at least 12 consecutive months and either of the following situations applies to you:

1. Even with therapy, the appropriate devices or medication, you are always or almost always:
   - unable to see;
   - unable to perform one of the following basic activities of daily living without it taking an inordinate amount of time: speaking, hearing, walking, eliminating, feeding or dressing yourself, or functioning in everyday life because you do not have the necessary mental functions (remunerated work, social activities, recreational activities or housekeeping are not basic activities of daily living); or
   - restricted in more than one of the activities listed, if the cumulative effect of the restrictions is equivalent to having a single marked restriction in one of those activities.
2. Because of a chronic disease, you undergo therapy prescribed by a physician or specialized nurse practitioner at least twice a week, and the therapy:
   - is essential to the maintenance of one of your vital functions; and
   - requires at least 14 hours per week (including time for travel, medical appointments and post-treatment recovery).

Effective 2021, treatments for type 1 diabetes meet the criteria for essential therapeutic treatments.

If your health has improved since you last filed a document certifying the impairment, you must inform us.

Form to enclose

Enclose form TP-752.0.14-V, Certificate Respecting an Impairment, or Canada Revenue Agency form T2201, Disability Tax Credit Certificate, with your return. However, you must file form TP-752.0.14-V if you are in situation 2 above.

>
> If someone claims the tax credit for caregivers with respect to you, they must submit form TP-752.0.14-V instead of form T2201 to confirm that you cannot live alone or need assistance in carrying out a basic activity of daily living due to a severe and prolonged impairment in mental or physical functions.
>
> See the instructions for point 2 of line 462.

Remuneration paid to a full-time attendant or fees paid for full-time residence in a nursing home

You cannot claim the impairment amount on line 376 if the remuneration paid to a full-time attendant is used to calculate a tax credit for medical expenses in your or someone else's income tax return, unless the amount claimed as remuneration paid to the attendant is $10,000 or less (see "Remuneration paid to an attendant" in the instructions for line 381).

Similarly, you cannot claim the impairment amount on line 376 if the fees paid for your full-time residence in a nursing home have already been used to calculate a tax credit for medical expenses in your or someone else's income tax return, unless:

- a receipt issued by the nursing home specifically shows an amount for the remuneration paid to a full-time attendant;
- the amount for the remuneration paid to a full-time attendant is $10,000 or less; and
- only the portion of the residence fees specifically relating to the remuneration of the attendant is included in the medical expenses.

- moving expenses paid in 2025 to move to within 80 kilometres of a health establishment in Québec located 200 kilometres or more from your former home.

However, if these expenses can be included as moving expenses on line 228, or if they entitle you to the travel deduction on line 236, it may be to your advantage to claim them on those lines rather than on line 378.

You can include these expenses on line 378 only if you paid them to obtain medical services for yourself, your spouse or a dependant (see the definition at line 381) during the year in which the expenses were incurred.

The following are the most common eligible medical expenses:

- payments made to a dentist, nurse, practitioner, public hospital or licensed private hospital for medical, dental or paramedical services;
- payments for drugs that can only be purchased if prescribed by a physician or a dentist and obtained from a licensed pharmacist. You cannot include payments for drugs that are prescribed by a medical practitioner in your medical expenses if the drugs can be purchased without a prescription;

- the premium paid under the Québec prescription drug insurance plan for 2024, provided December 31, 2024, is included in the period of 12 consecutive months used to determine the amount of medical expenses;
- the premium payable under the Québec prescription drug insurance plan for 2025, provided December 31, 2025, is included in the period of 12 consecutive months used to determine the amount of medical expenses. Complete Schedule K to determine the amount of your premium;
- payments made to an insurer or a group insurance plan to cover medical or hospital expenses for you, your spouse or a dependant, where the payments were made as a premium or contribution (including the value of the benefit related to the employer's contribution, shown in box J of the RL-1 slip or box B of the RL-22 slip) or in any other form. The amount of the payments made to an insurer or a group insurance plan may be shown in box 235 of the RL-1 or RL-2 slip;
- payments for eyeglasses, contact lenses or other devices for the treatment or correction of a defect of vision, where such items are prescribed by an ophthalmologist or an optometrist. However, expenses for eyeglass frames are limited to $200 per person for the period of 12 consecutive months used to calculate the amount for medical expenses;
- reasonable moving expenses of up to $2,000, other than expenses claimed on lines 228 and 378, incurred to enable a person (yourself, your spouse or a dependant) who lacks normal physical development or has a severe and prolonged mobility impairment to move to a dwelling that is more accessible or in which the person is more mobile or functional;
- payments made to obtain certain devices or equipment prescribed by a practitioner, if the conditions of purchase or use are met;

Eligible medical expenses paid or reimbursed by an employer

If you or your spouse received a taxable benefit for eligible medical expenses paid or reimbursed by your or your spouse's employer (included in boxes A and L of the RL-1 slip), you can include the amount paid or reimbursed in your medical expenses, provided it cannot be deducted on line 236 or 297.

Other reimbursements

You must subtract from the amount of your medical expenses any reimbursement that you, your spouse or a dependant received or is entitled to receive, unless the amount of the reimbursement must be included in your income or in that of your spouse or dependant and cannot be deducted on line 236 or 297.

Remuneration paid to an attendant

You can include in your medical expenses the remuneration paid to an attendant who provided care to you, your spouse or a dependant, if all of the following conditions are met:

- The person who received the care had a severe and prolonged impairment in mental or physical functions (see the instructions for line 376).
- The care was provided in Canada.
- The attendant, at the time, was neither your spouse nor under 18 years of age.
- The amount to be included in your medical expenses for the remuneration paid to an attendant does not exceed $10,000 (or $20,000 if the person who received the care died in the year).
- No portion of the remuneration paid is being used to claim:
  - childcare expenses;
  - disability supports expenses, where the goods and services concerned enabled the person to carry out employment duties, carry on a business, do research, or attend a designated educational institution or a secondary school;
  - fees paid for full-time residence in a nursing home (unless a receipt issued by the nursing home shows an amount specifically relating to remuneration paid to an attendant); or
  - expenses for care and training received at a school, an institution or any other place.
- A receipt was issued by the recipient of the remuneration. (If the recipient was an individual, their social insurance number must be on the receipt.)

You cannot include amounts paid for the services of an attendant in your medical expenses if you or your spouse is entitled to include the amounts in the calculation of the tax credit for home-support services for seniors.

Remuneration paid to a full-time attendant

You can also include in your medical expenses the remuneration paid to a full-time attendant who provided care to you, your spouse or a dependant. The remuneration must have been paid to a person who, at the time, was neither your spouse nor under 18 years of age. The person who received the care must have been:

- a person with a severe and prolonged impairment in mental or physical functions (see the instructions for line 376); or
- a person who, because of an infirmity, has been certified by a practitioner to be dependent on others for their personal needs and care for a prolonged period of time. The person must have received the care in the dwelling where they live. In addition, the person to whom the remuneration was paid must have issued a receipt (if they are an individual, their social insurance number must be on the receipt).

A person is considered in the care of a full-time attendant if they require constant and continual care because of an infirmity or a severe and prolonged impairment in mental or physical functions. More than one attendant can care for the person over a given period, and there is no minimum time period during which care must be provided by any particular attendant.

Fees paid for full-time residence in a nursing home

You can also include in your medical expenses the fees for full-time residence in a nursing home that were paid for you, your spouse or a dependant. The fees must have been paid for the full-time residence of a person with a severe and prolonged impairment in mental or physical functions (see the instructions for line 376) or a person who, due to lack of normal mental capacity, has been certified by a practitioner to be dependent on others for their personal needs and care.

Form to enclose

If you are claiming such fees for the first time, enclose form TP-752.0.14-V, Certificate Respecting an Impairment, or a copy of Canada Revenue Agency form T2201, Disability Tax Credit Certificate.

If the health of the person concerned (you, your spouse or a dependant) has improved since a document certifying the impairment was last filed, you must notify us.

Restriction

If you include in your medical expenses the remuneration paid to a full-time attendant or the fees paid for full-time residence in a nursing home for a person with a severe and prolonged impairment in mental or physical functions, it is possible that neither you nor anyone else may be entitled to claim an amount on line 376 with respect to the person's impairment. See "Remuneration paid to a full-time attendant or fees paid for full-time residence in a nursing home" in the instructions for line 376.

Person who died in 2025

If the medical expenses that you are claiming include expenses paid for a person who died in 2025, you can, for this person, use a reference period of 24 consecutive months that includes the date of death.

You or your spouse was not resident in Canada throughout the year

If, for all or part of the year, you or your spouse on December 31, 2025, was not resident in Canada, take into account only the income that you and your spouse earned while resident in Canada in calculating your family income (Part A of Schedule B).

385 Interest paid on a student loan

You can claim an amount if you (or a person related to you) paid interest after 1997 on a student loan that was granted to you under the Act respecting financial assistance for education expenses, the Canada Student Loans Act, the Canada Student Financial Assistance Act, the Apprentice Loans Act (federal statute) or a law of a province other than Québec governing the granting of financial assistance to post-secondary students. However, you cannot claim an amount for interest paid on any other type of loan (such as a line of credit) or on a student loan that was combined with another type of loan, or for interest paid further to a court decision concerning your default on a student loan.

To claim or carry forward an amount, complete Schedule M and file it with your return. You are the only person who can claim an amount for the interest paid on a student loan granted to you.

Even if you are not claiming an amount for 2025, it is to your advantage to complete Schedule M to determine the cumulative amount of interest that you can carry forward. File the schedule with your return.

Carrying interest paid on a student loan to a future year

You can carry to a future year the interest paid on a student loan from 1998 through 2025, provided you have not already claimed it on a previous return. To calculate the amount that can be carried forward, complete Schedule M and file it with your return.

You can claim this tax credit if, in 2025, you made contributions in cash or by cheque to:

- official representatives of municipal political parties or independent candidates authorized under Québec's Act respecting elections and referendums in municipalities;
- financial representatives of municipal party leadership candidates authorized under Québec's Act respecting elections and referendums in municipalities.

However, you cannot claim this credit if you were a candidate of an authorized party, an authorized independent candidate or a leadership candidate of an authorized party and you made contributions for your own benefit or for that of the party for which you were running.

The maximum credit is $155. To calculate the amount of your credit, complete Work Chart 414.

In calculating the credit, do not include contributions for which you are or were entitled to a refund, reimbursement or any other form of assistance.

415 Dividend tax credit

To receive the dividend tax credit, you must have been resident in Québec on December 31 (or on the day you ceased being resident in Canada).

To claim a tax credit for dividends from taxable Canadian corporations, add the amounts from box C of all your RL-3 slips, box 44 of all your RL-15 slips, box J of all your RL-16 slips and box G of all your RL-25 slips, and enter the total on line 415.

If you did not receive an RL-3 slip, RL-15 slip, RL-16 slip or RL-25 slip for any of the dividends reported on line 128, enter the result of the following calculation on line 415: the amount on line 166 multiplied by 16.1460% plus the amount on line 167 multiplied by 3.9330%.

Special case

You cannot claim a dividend tax credit for dividend income (or any portion thereof) deducted on line 293 or entitling you to a deduction on line 297 (point 9).

422 Tax credit for the acquisition of Capital régional et coopératif Desjardins shares

You can claim this tax credit if you were resident in Québec on December 31, 2025, and you acquired, as first purchaser, Capital régional et coopératif Desjardins shares during the period from March 1, 2025, to February 28, 2026.

To claim this credit, enter the amount from box B of your RL-26 slip on line 422.

Note that you cannot carry forward the portion of the credit you are not claiming in 2025.

IMPORTANT

You are not entitled to this tax credit if:

- you requested that Capital régional et coopératif Desjardins redeem shares that you acquired after February 28, 2025;
- before March 1, 2026, Capital régional et coopératif Desjardins redeemed or purchased shares that you acquired before March 1, 2025, and for which you were entitled to a tax credit for a year prior to 2025;
- you have reached the $45,000 cumulative subscription ceiling.

Special tax related to the redemption of Capital régional et coopératif Desjardins shares

If you claim a tax credit on line 422 of your return and, in a future year, you request that Capital régional et coopératif Desjardins redeem shares that you held for fewer than seven years, a portion of the tax credit you obtained will be recovered.

424 Tax credit for a labour-sponsored fund

You can claim this credit if, in 2025 or the first 60 days of 2026, you acquired, as first purchaser, class A shares in the Fonds de solidarité des travailleurs et des travailleuses du Québec (FTQ) or class A or class B shares in Fondaction (le Fonds de développement de la Confédération des syndicats nationaux pour la coopération et l'emploi).

To calculate the amount of your credit, add the tax credits shown on your RL-10 slip and the tax credits you did not use before 2025 and then subtract the cancelled credits shown on your RL-10 slip from the result. However, the total amount of the shares acquired in a labour-sponsored fund that you can take into account in calculating your credit cannot be more than $5,000.

Under certain conditions, you can carry forward the portion of the credit you are not claiming for 2025 to reduce your income tax for future years. For example, if the total of the amounts shown in boxes A and G of your RL-10 slip is more than $5,000, the surplus can be used to calculate your credit for future years.

You are not entitled to this credit if any of the following situations apply to you:

- You were born before January 1, 1961.
- You were born before January 1, 1981, and were either retired or on pre-retirement leave in 2025.
- You asked the FTQ or Fondaction to redeem your shares within 60 days of acquiring them.
- You transferred the acquired shares to a spousal registered retirement savings plan (RRSP) or a spousal registered retirement investment fund (RRIF), and your spouse (or former spouse):
  - was born before January 1, 1961; or
  - was born before January 1, 1981, and was either retired or on pre-retirement leave.

A person is considered to be retired or on pre-retirement leave if, in 2025, they:

- received a retirement pension under the Québec Pension Plan (QPP) or the Canada Pension Plan (CPP);
- received pension or annuity payments under one of the following (unless the payments they received were further to the death of their spouse):
  - a registered pension plan (RPP),
  - an RRSP,
  - a RRIF,
  - a pooled registered pension plan (PRPP), including a voluntary retirement savings plan (VRSP),
  - a deferred profit-sharing plan (DPSP); or
- were on paid leave and was not expected to return to work (for example, the person was using accumulated sick leave before retiring).

However, a person is not considered to be retired or on pre-retirement leave if the total of the person's employment and business income for 2025 was over $3,500, and they had yet to turn 65 or redeem all or part of their shares by the end of the year.

Purchase of replacement shares

If you purchased replacement shares (RL-10 slip) because you redeemed your shares in a labour-sponsored fund in a previous year in order to participate in the Home Buyers' Plan (HBP) or the Lifelong Learning Plan (LLP), you cannot claim the credit for the replacement shares.

431 Credits transferred from one spouse to the other

Negative amount on line 430

If the amount on line 430 is negative, you can transfer it to your spouse on December 31, 2025 (see the definition at line 12), to reduce their income tax. However, if you claimed a deduction for split income on line 295, refer to Part 4 of form TP-766.3.4-V, Income Tax on Split Income, to find out whether you can transfer an amount.

To make the transfer, carry the amount from line 430 to line 431 and enter "0" on line 432. Your spouse must enter the transferred amount on line 431 of their return. You must file a return in order for the amount to be transferred to your spouse.

If you are claiming amounts on lines 381, 385, 395, 398, 409 and 424, you can reduce them instead of transferring the unused portion of the credits to your spouse. This will reduce your income tax for future years.

Positive amount on line 430

If the amount on line 430 of your return is positive but the amount on line 430 of the return of your spouse on December 31, 2025 (see the definition at line 12), is negative, you can enter the negative amount on line 431 of your return. If you do so, your spouse must file a return.

Your spouse is transferring an amount as a child 18 or over enrolled in post-secondary studies

If your spouse on December 31, 2025, is transferring an amount as a child 18 or over enrolled in post-secondary studies to their father or mother, you must reduce the negative amount on line 430 of your spouse's return by 14% of the transferred amount (lines 20.1 and 20.2 of your spouse's Schedule S) and enter the reduced amount on line 431 of your return.

Your spouse died in 2025

If your spouse died in 2025 but is considered to have been your spouse on December 31, 2025, only the negative amount on line 430 of your spouse's principal income tax return can be transferred to you.

Alternative minimum tax carry-over (line 13 of Schedule E)

However, if you filed a declaration of cancellation before January 1, 2026, you do not have to pay the fee.

Annual registration fee

Enter the annual registration fee for a sole proprietorship for 2026 on line 438 of your return. To find out how much the fee is, see the Québec.ca website.

Tax adjustment

Retroactive payments and support-payment arrears

If you received a retroactive payment in 2025 and a portion of the payment (at least $300) applies to previous years, we can, at your request, determine whether it is to your advantage to average that portion of the payment. If it is, we will calculate the income tax payable on that portion of the payment as if you had received it in the previous years in question and deduct it from your taxable income for 2025. We will then make a tax adjustment on line 443.

To see what kinds of payments can be averaged, refer to form TP-766.2-V, Averaging of a Retroactive Payment, Support-Payment Arrears or a Repayment of Support. If you want us to do the calculation, check box 404 on your return, complete form TP-766.2-V, and enclose it with your return. If you complete Part 4 of the form, check box 405 on your return.

> NOTE
> We cannot average your retroactive payments in the following cases:
> - You received a payment of a compensation adjustment under the Pay Equity Act.
> - During the year, you received a retroactive payment that you are deducting in the calculation of your taxable income (for example, a retroactive payment of income replacement indemnities or compensation for the loss of financial support).
> - You are transferring a portion of a retroactive payment of eligible retirement income to your spouse (your spouse on December 31, 2025). Neither you nor your spouse can have the transferred portion of the retroactive payment averaged.

Retroactive payments of income replacement indemnities

If you received a retroactive payment of income replacement indemnities that you must report on line 148 and a portion of the payment applies to previous years, one or more amounts will be shown in box O of your RL-5 slip. We will calculate the income tax that you would have had to pay if you had received the indemnities in those previous years and make a tax adjustment on line 443 of your 2025 income tax return.

Repayment of support

If you received a repayment of support that you must report on line 142 and a portion of the repayment applies to previous years, we can, at your request, determine whether it is to your advantage to average that portion of the repayment. If it is, we will calculate the income tax payable on that portion of the repayment as if you had received it in the previous years in question and deduct it from your taxable income for 2025. We will then make a tax adjustment on line 443.

If you want us to do the calculation, check box 404 on your return, complete form TP-766.2-V, Averaging of a Retroactive Payment, Support-Payment Arrears or a Repayment of Support, and enclose the form with your return. If you complete Part 4 of the form, check box 405 on your return.

- You did not elect, in a previous year, to stop making QPP contributions on your income from self-employment or your income as a person responsible for a family-type resource or an intermediate resource or you revoked such an election in that year or a previous year.

If you entered an amount on line 96, 96.1 or line 96.2, complete form LE-35-V, Contribution and Deduction Related to the QPP or the CPP, instead of Schedule U to calculate the QPP contribution on your income from self-employment. - you receive a retirement pension from the QPP or the Canada Pension Plan (CPP).

To make the election, complete section 2 of Part A of Schedule U.

446 Contribution to the health services fund

The purpose of this contribution is to ensure that everyone helps finance Québec's health services. Consequently, you may have to pay a contribution to the health services fund if you were resident in Québec on December 31, 2025 (or on the day you ceased to be resident in Canada in 2025). To find out if you are required to pay a contribution and to calculate how much you have to pay, complete Schedule F.

Special cases

- If you were resident in Québec on December 31, 2025, and you carried on a business in Canada, outside Québec, in 2025, calculate your contribution by multiplying the amount on line 82 of Schedule F by the percentage you determined on line 35 of form TP-22-V, Income Tax Payable by an Individual Who Carries On a Business in Canada, Outside Québec.
- If you are claiming a deduction on line 297 under point 9, 12, 14 or 21, do not include on line 62 of Schedule F any portion of the deduction that pertains to employment income (line 101) or support payments received (line 142).

- If you received a retroactive payment that must be reported on line 107, 110, 111, 119, 122 or 154, or interest on a retroactive payment (line 130), we can, at your request, calculate whether it is to your advantage to deduct the portion of the payment that relates to previous years from your income subject to the contribution for 2025, provided that portion is $300 or more. If it is to your advantage, we will adjust your contribution. Similarly, if you received a repayment of support that must be reported on line 142, we can calculate whether it is to your advantage to have the portion of the payment that applies to previous years deducted from your income subject to the contribution for 2025. If it is, we will adjust your contribution. If you want us to do these calculations, check box 404 on your return and complete form TP-766.2-V, Averaging of a Retroactive Payment, Support-Payment Arrears or a Repayment of Support. Enclose the form with your return.

33 You were born before January 1, 1960, the amount of net federal supplements on line 148 of your return is more than $6,892, you had a spouse for only part of the year or, if you had a spouse throughout the year, your spouse turned 60 or 65 during the year, and you did not have to pay for your prescription drugs throughout 2025 because of the amount of the Guaranteed Income Supplement (GIS) you received (if your prescription drugs were free for only part of the year, contact us).

34 You had a spouse on December 31, 2025, and the amount on line 275 of your return plus the amount on line 275 of your spouse's return totals $32,240 or less.

35 You were born in 1960, you held a valid claim slip issued by the Ministère de l'Emploi et de la Solidarité sociale for all the months in the year that preceded your birthday (including the month of your birthday), and you did not have to pay for your prescription drugs for the other months of the year because of the amount of the Guaranteed Income Supplement (GIS) you received.

If none of these situations applied to you in 2025, read the information that follows and complete Schedule K.

You had insurance that did not cover the cost of prescription drugs

You must pay a premium under the Québec prescription drug insurance plan if you had insurance that did not provide basic prescription drug insurance at least equivalent to that provided by the RAMQ. This is the case, for example, if you had a complementary insurance plan that reimbursed only expenses other than the cost of drugs covered by the Québec prescription drug insurance plan (such as expenses for hospital care, transportation by ambulance, etc.).

You turned 65 in 2025

If you turned 65 in 2025, contact your insurer to make sure you have basic prescription drug insurance that is at least equivalent to that provided by the RAMQ. If not, you may have to pay a premium under the Québec prescription drug insurance plan. For more information, contact us or refer to the RAMQ website (ramq.gouv.qc.ca).

You were separated from your spouse

If you were covered for the whole year by basic prescription drug insurance provided by a group plan of which your spouse was a member, and you were separated from your spouse in 2025 because of the breakdown of your relationship, you are not required to complete Schedule K or pay a premium. Simply enter "16" in box 449 of your return.

Income used to calculate the premium (Part A of Schedule K)

To determine the income used to calculate your premium, you must take into account the amount on line 275 of your return and, if you had a spouse on December 31, 2025 (see the definition at line 12), the amount on line 275 of their return.

On line 90, enter $755 if you were covered for the whole year by the Québec prescription drug insurance plan, you were required to pay the premium for all 12 months of 2025 and the income used to calculate the premium (line 48 of Schedule K) is more than:

- $8,181, if you did not have a spouse on December 31, 2025; or
- $14,669, if you had a spouse on December 31, 2025.

If you choose to pay your spouse's premium, and your spouse was required to pay the premium for all 12 months of 2025, enter $755 on line 97 as well.

Dependent child

A person for whom you or your spouse on December 31:

- received the Family Allowance payment from Retraite Québec for the month of December 2025 or, in the case of a child born or adopted in December 2025, for the month of January 2026; or
- is claiming, on line 28 of Schedule A, an amount transferred by a child 18 or over enrolled in post-secondary studies.

Number of months for which you do not have to pay the premium (Part B of Schedule K)

If you were not covered throughout the year by basic prescription drug insurance provided by a group insurance plan, complete section 1 in Part B of Schedule K, regardless of whether you received benefits under the Québec prescription drug insurance plan.

If you had a spouse on December 31, 2025, and they have to pay a premium, you can choose to pay it for them. To do so, provide the required information about your spouse in section 2 of Part B and calculate your spouse's premium in Part C. Your spouse does not have to file Schedule K, but must enter "20" in box 449 of their return.

You were covered by a group insurance plan applicable only outside Québec

If you were covered by a group insurance plan applicable only outside Québec as well as by the Québec prescription drug insurance plan, the situations described on lines 14, 16 and 50 of Schedule K do not apply to you for the months during which you were covered by the plan applicable only outside Québec.

You attended an educational institution on a full-time basis (lines 54 and 68 of Schedule K)

You must check all 12 months of the year if you:

- were at least 18 but under 26;
- were your father's or mother's dependant;
- were registered for the Québec prescription drug insurance plan by your father or mother; and
- attended an educational institution full time at the secondary, college or university level during both the winter and fall terms (regardless of whether you were enrolled for the summer term).

If you were not registered for both the winter and fall terms, you must check the months (whether complete or not) included in the period in which you attended such an educational institution full time.

If, because of an impairment, you attended an educational institution as a duly enrolled student (at the secondary, college or university level) on a part-time basis only, contact us to find out what rules apply to your situation.

You were in a residential and long-term care centre (CHSLD) (lines 57 and 71 of Schedule K)

You are considered to be in a CHSLD if you reside in a hospital or facility maintained by a public institution or private institution under agreement that operates a CHSLD. In that case, the CHSLD pays your medication costs.

You had a functional impairment

(lines 58 and 72 of Schedule K)

You must check the months (whether complete or not) in which you:

- had a functional impairment that occurred before you turned 18;
- lived with your mother, father or tutor (guardian);
- were registered for the Québec prescription drug insurance plan by your mother, father or tutor;
- did not have a spouse;
- did not receive social assistance payments; and
- had a document from the RAMQ attesting to your impairment.

For more information, contact the RAMQ.

- You were resident in Québec on December 31, 2025, but you were also resident in another province during the year.
- You are an immigrant or emigrant.
- You ceased to be covered by the Québec prescription drug insurance plan in 2025 (this is the case, for example, if you were outside Québec for 183 days or more).

Special case

If, in 2025, you received the Guaranteed Income Supplement and you or your spouse received a retroactive payment of the Old Age Security pension or federal supplements, we can, at your request, calculate whether it is to your advantage to deduct the portion of the payment that applies to previous years from your income subject to the Québec prescription drug insurance premium for 2025. If it is, we will adjust your premium and that of your spouse, if applicable. If you want us to do this calculation, check box 404 on your return and complete form TP-766.2-V, Averaging of a Retroactive Payment, Support-Payment Arrears or a Repayment of Support. Enclose the form with your return.

Your spouse died in 2025

If your spouse died in 2025 but is considered to have been your spouse on December 31, 2025 (see the definition at line 12), you can choose to pay their premium. Check box 73 in section 2 of Part B of Schedule K and the month(s) following the month of death. Where applicable, calculate the number of months for which your spouse was not required to pay a premium (see lines 64 through 72).

To be entitled to this credit, you must have requested a tax transfer on line 43800 of your federal income tax return. Enter the amount of that transfer.

455 Tax credit for childcare expenses

You can claim the refundable tax credit for childcare expenses if all of the following requirements are met:

Qualified educational institution

The following are qualified educational institutions:

1. a university, college or other institution that offers a post-secondary program where you or your spouse was enrolled in a post-secondary program or occupational skills courses that are not at the post-secondary level;
2. an institution recognized by us where you or your spouse was enrolled for the purpose of acquiring or upgrading skills necessary for a remunerated activity;
3. a university outside Canada that you or your spouse attended full time for at least three consecutive weeks (the course of study must lead to a diploma);
4. an institution in the United States where you or your spouse was enrolled in a post-secondary program, provided you lived in Canada near the U.S. border throughout 2025 and regularly commuted between your home and the institution.

The qualified educational institutions referred to in points 1 and 2 must be located in Canada, unless, during the period for which the childcare expenses were paid, you or your spouse was living outside Canada temporarily.

NOTE

We consider enrolment in a secondary school or in a course in person or remotely at a qualified educational institution to be:

NOTE

Online and correspondence courses

You can take courses offered by a qualified educational institution at a distance without any virtual presence at a fixed time or interaction with the professor or the class being required. However, presence (either physical or virtual) is mandatory for courses offered by a secondary school.

Child with a severe and prolonged impairment in mental or physical functions

You must enclose form TP-752.0.14-V, Certificate Respecting an Impairment, if both of the following conditions are met:

- You or your spouse on December 31, 2025, paid childcare expenses for a child with a severe and prolonged impairment in mental or physical functions.
- The expenses were more than:
  - $12,275 if the child was born after December 31, 2018;
  - $6,180 if the child was born before January 1, 2019.

You can enclose a copy of federal form T2201, Disability Tax Credit Certificate, instead of form TP-752.0.14-V, unless you are required to provide certification that, due to a chronic disease (other than type 1 diabetes), the child undergoes therapy at least twice a week that is essential to the maintenance of one of their vital functions and that requires at least 14 hours per week. You do not have to enclose either form if you have already submitted form TP-752.0.14-V.

If the child's health has improved since you last filed a document certifying the impairment, you must inform us.

RL-24 slip

Your childcare provider must give you an RL-24 slip to keep as proof that you paid the expenses. Receipts for childcare services are no longer accepted, except in a few specific cases (for example, when fees are paid to a childcare service provider outside Québec).

Note that the reduced contribution set by the government that you paid for childcare services is not covered by the tax credit.

Boarding school or camp

The maximum you can claim for fees paid to a boarding school or camp that provides lodging is:

- $275 per week for an eligible child of any age who has a severe and prolonged impairment in mental or physical functions;
- $200 per week for an eligible child who was six or under on December 31, 2025;

  - was under 16 at some point in the year; or
  - has a physical or mental infirmity other than a severe and prolonged impairment in mental or physical functions.

The boarding school or camp must consider the applicable maximum when determining the amount to enter in box E of the RL-24 slip. If there is an error on your RL-24 slip, contact the boarding school or camp that issued it.

Splitting the tax credit for childcare expenses

If you and your spouse on December 31, 2025, want to split the tax credit for childcare expenses, you can jointly choose the amounts that will be attributed to each of you. To do so, you must each complete your own Schedule C and file it with your respective income tax returns. In Schedule C, you must enter the amount claimed by your spouse on December 31, 2025, and subtract it from the amount you are claiming.

Note that if you received advance payments and you choose to split the tax credit with your spouse on December 31, 2025, the amount you are entitled to may be less than the advance payments you received. In this case, you may have to repay part of the advance payments you received.

Advance payments of the tax credit for childcare expenses

If you received advance payments of the tax credit for childcare expenses in 2025, enter on line 441 the amount from box C of your RL-19 slip.

You were resident in Canada, outside Québec, on December 31, 2025, and you carried on a business in Québec in 2025

For more information, contact us.

You were resident in Canada for only part of the year

Under certain conditions, you can claim the tax credit for childcare expenses if you were in one of the following situations:

- You were resident in Québec on the day you ceased to reside in Canada.
- You were resident in Canada, outside Québec, on the day you ceased to reside in Canada, and you carried on a business in Québec in 2025.

If you were resident in Canada (outside Québec) on the day you ceased to reside in Canada and you carried on a business in Québec during the year before leaving Canada, special rules apply. Contact us for more information.

If, for all or part of the year, you or your spouse on December 31, 2025, was not resident in Canada, you must include, in your family income (Part C of Schedule C), all of the income that you and your spouse earned, including income earned while you or your spouse was not resident in Canada.

Allowance for or reimbursement of childcare expenses from the Ministère de l'Emploi et de la Solidarité sociale or the Ministère de l'Immigration, de la Francisation et de l'Intégration

If you included allowances for or reimbursements of childcare expenses received from the Ministère de l'Emploi et de la Solidarité sociale or the Ministère de l'Immigration, de la Francisation et de l'Intégration in calculating your childcare expenses for a previous year, and you are required to repay those amounts, you can ask us to adjust your tax credit for childcare expenses for the year in which you received the allowance or reimbursement. If you want us to do so, complete and file form TP-1.R-V, Request for an Adjustment to an Income Tax Return.

Advance payments of the tax credits respecting the work premium

If, in 2025, you received advance payments of any of the tax credits respecting the work premium (work premium, adapted work premium or supplement to the work premium [for former recipients of last-resort financial assistance or financial assistance under the Aim for Employment Program]), enter on line 441 the amount from box A (and, if applicable, the amount from box B) of your RL-19 slip.

You cannot designate as a dependent child a person who was confined to a prison or a similar institution on December 31, 2025, if they were confined for more than 183 days in 2025.

Your designated dependent child cannot claim any of the tax credits respecting the work premium for the year.

You or your spouse was not resident in Canada throughout the year

If, for all or part of 2025, you or your spouse on December 31 (see the definition opposite) was not resident in Canada, you must take into account, in determining your family income, all of the income that you and your spouse earned, including income earned while you or your spouse was not resident in Canada.

- was entitled, in 2025, to the amount for a severe and prolonged impairment in mental or physical functions (see the instructions for line 376).

If you are eligible for the adapted work premium, you can claim either the work premium or the adapted work premium, whichever is greater.

You are not entitled to the adapted work premium if your work income (line 29 if you did not have a spouse on December 31, or the total of lines 29 and 49 if you did) is $1,200 or less.

If your work income is over $1,200, use the table below to determine the maximum family income for your family situation. If your family income is equal to or greater than the maximum, you are not entitled to the adapted work premium. If it is less than the maximum, complete column 2 in Part E of Schedule P.

Maximum family income

Family situation	Maximum family income
Single person	$40,371
Childless couple	$61,961
Single-parent family	$59,293
Couple with one or more children	$78,438

Splitting the work premium or the adapted work premium

You and your spouse on December 31, 2025, can split the work premium or the adapted work premium. To do so, you must each complete your own Schedule P.

If you or your spouse on December 31, 2025, received advance payments of the work premium, the person who received them should claim the work premium in their income tax return.

457 Québec parental insurance plan (QPIP) overpayment

If the total of your net business income, your employment income subject to the QPIP and your insurable earnings as a person responsible for a family-type resource or an intermediate resource is less than $2,000, carry the amount from line 97 to line 457.

If the amount on line 97 is more than $484.12, enter the overpayment (that is, the excess) on line 457. You may have made an overpayment even if the amount you entered on line 97 is less than $484.12. If this is the case, we will calculate the overpayment for you.

Make sure you enter, on line 97 of your return, the total QPIP premiums shown in box H of your RL-1 slip(s).

458 Tax credit for home-support services for seniors

Eligibility

You may be entitled to a refundable tax credit for expenses related to home-support services if you meet both of the following conditions:

- You were resident in Québec on December 31, 2025.
- You were at least 70 years of age on December 31, 2025.

If you turned 70 in 2025, you can claim the tax credit only for expenses paid in the year for home-support services that were rendered or that will be rendered on or after your 70th birthday.

If you had a spouse on December 31, 2025 (see the definition at line 12), and you are both entitled to the tax credit, only one of you can claim the credit for your couple. Regardless of who is claiming it, the amount for your couple will be the same. However, if either of you received advance payments of the tax credit, the person who received them should claim the credit. See "Claiming the tax credit" on the next page.

Amount of the tax credit

The tax credit is equal to 39% of your eligible expenses. The annual expense limit varies depending on whether you are a dependent senior or a non-dependent senior. See the table below for the maximum you can enter on line 75 of Schedule J.

Annual limit on eligible expenses

Situation	Annual limit on eligible expenses (line 75 of Schedule J)	Maximum tax credit for the year
Single non-dependent senior	$19,500	$7,605 (39% x $19,500)
Couple of non-dependent seniors	$39,000	$15,210 (39% × $39,000)
Single dependent senior	$25,500	$9,945 (39% × $25,500)
Couple with one dependent senior and one non-dependent senior	$45,000	$17,550 (39% × $45,000)
Couple of dependent seniors	$51,000	$19,890 (39% × $51,000)

Dependent senior

A person in either of the following situations:

- They need constant help with most of their needs and personal care (washing, dressing and feeding themselves, and moving around inside the home).
- They need constant supervision because of a severe and permanent mental disorder affecting thought activity (for example, Alzheimer's disease or dementia).

NOTE

To confirm that you are a dependent senior, you must provide a written certificate from a physician or specialized nurse practitioner. You can use form TPZ-1029.MD.A-V, Certification of Dependent Senior Status: Tax Credit for Home-Support Services for Seniors.

Reduction of the tax credit based on family income

The tax credit will be reduced if your family income is over $71,010. The reduction varies depending on your situation. To calculate it, complete Work Chart 458. For more information, see our website at revenuquebec.ca.

Your family income is the amount on line 275 of your return. If you had a spouse on December 31, 2025 (see the definition at line 12), your family income is the amount on line 275 of your return plus the amount on line 275 of your spouse's return.

If you or your spouse was not resident in Canada for all or part of 2025, you must calculate your family income (Part B of Schedule J) by taking into account all the income you and your spouse earned in the year, including any income earned while not resident in Canada.

Claiming the tax credit

You must complete Schedule J to claim the tax credit. If there is an amount in box E of your RL-19 slip, also see the instructions for line 466.

You lived in a private seniors' residence in 2025

If you lived in a private seniors' residence in 2025, complete section 1 of Part A of Schedule J.

Private seniors' residence

A facility that is either:

- a congregate residential facility, or any part of such a facility, in respect of which the operator holds:
  - a temporary or regular authorization for the operation of a private seniors' residence granted under the Act respecting the governance of the health and social services system; or
  - a temporary certificate of compliance or a certificate of compliance for the operation of a private seniors' residence issued under the Act respecting health services and social services for the Inuit and Naskapi or the Act respecting health services and social services.
- a private residential and long-term care centre (CHSLD) that is not under agreement.

You lived in an apartment building (other than a private seniors' residence) in 2025

If you lived in an apartment building (other than a private seniors' residence) in 2025, complete section 2 of Part A of Schedule J.

In such a case, 5% of your monthly rent is eligible for the tax credit. The minimum eligible rent is $600. If your monthly rent is less than that, you must calculate the credit as if your rent were $600. Likewise, the maximum eligible rent is $1,200, which means that if your monthly rent is more than that, you must calculate the credit as if your rent were $1,200.

If you are eligible for the tax credit and we have all the required information on file, you can get a tax credit calculated using the $600 minimum rent automatically without completing Schedule J. However, if your rent is over $600, it is to your advantage to complete section 2 of Part A to ensure that you get the full amount you are entitled to.

Line 30 of Schedule J

In column 1, enter your rent for the first month you lived in your apartment in 2025 (maximum $1,200). If your rent was less than $600, enter $600. If your rent was more than $1,200, enter $1,200.

Only enter an amount in column 2 if it is different from the amount in column 1.

> NOTE
> If you or your spouse received (or is entitled to receive) a reimbursement of a portion of your rent, the reimbursement reduces the amount of rent that you can enter on line 30. However, financial assistance received in a form other than a reimbursement and the use of which you are not required to account for (such as the shelter allowance) does not reduce the amount of rent that you can enter in column 1.

If you lived with one or more co-tenants and none of them was your spouse, divide the total monthly rent (minimum $600 and maximum $1,200) by the total number of people living in the apartment to get your share of the rent to enter in column 1.

If you lived with your spouse and one or more other co-tenants, contact us.

Special case

If your monthly rent was between $600 and $1,200 and changed more than once in the year, do the calculations on lines 30 through 33 for each month your rent changed. Then, add up the results and enter the total on line 34 of Schedule J.

You lived in a condominium in 2025

If you lived in a condominium you owned in 2025, your condominium fees (also called "common expenses") may have included the cost of eligible services.

Complete section 3 of Part A of Schedule J.

On line 36, enter the total paid in the year for eligible services included in your condominium fees. This amount is shown on line 19 of the Information Return: Tax Credit for Home-Support Services for Seniors (form TPZ-1029.MD.5-V) that your syndicate of co-owners gave you.

> NOTE
> If you were a tenant in a condominium, see "You lived in an apartment building (other than a private seniors' residence) in 2025" on the previous page.

You lived in your own house or you paid for services not included in your rent or condominium fees

Complete lines 50 through 74 of Schedule J if either of the following applied to your situation in 2025:

- You paid for eligible home-support services and you lived in your own house.
- You paid for eligible home-support services that were not included in your rent or condominium fees.

> NOTE
> - If you were a tenant in the house you live in, see "You lived in an apartment building (other than a private seniors' residence) in 2025" on the previous page.
> - If you or your spouse received (or is entitled to receive) a reimbursement of a portion of the cost of your eligible services, the reimbursement reduces the cost of such services that you can enter on lines 50 through 56. However, financial assistance received in a form other than a reimbursement and the use of which you are not required to account for does not reduce the cost of your eligible services.

Housekeeping, grounds maintenance and snow removal services (line 50 of Schedule J)

Housekeeping services include:

- sweeping, dusting and cleaning living areas;
- maintaining appliances (cleaning an oven or a refrigerator);
- cleaning rugs and upholstered furniture (sofas and armchairs);
- cleaning air ducts (if they do not have to be dismantled); and
- chimney sweeping.

> NOTE
> - Housekeeping services do not include the cost of cleaning products.
> - If you rented an apartment, only housekeeping in your apartment entitles you to the tax credit; housekeeping in common areas is not included.
> - If you rented a room, you can claim the tax credit for housekeeping in your room and common living areas (living room, bathroom, kitchen, dining room and hallways or other areas used to access these living areas). The housekeeping must have been paid in addition to your rent.
> - If you lived in a private seniors' residence, the cost of housekeeping services is only eligible if it was paid to a service provider dealing at arm's length with the residence.

- lawn care (fertilization and mowing);
- pool maintenance;

Nursing services
(line 54 of Schedule J)

Nursing services include the care provided by:

- a nurse; or

- services related to the use of a personal GPS locator (while the cost of renting or purchasing such a device is not an eligible expense, you may be able to claim a portion of the cost under the independent living tax credit for seniors [line 462]).

NOTE
- Supervision and support services do not include the cost of purchasing safety products (for example, a monitoring bracelet, a panic button or an alarm system).
- If you lived in a private seniors' residence, supervision and support services are not eligible because they are already taken into account in the basic amount to which you are entitled for services included in rent. However, services related to the use of a personal GPS locator are eligible, provided that payment for such services was made to a service provider dealing at arm's length with the residence.

Civic support services are services that enable you to fulfill your duties or civic obligations. Such services include:

- help going to vote;
- help completing forms; and
- budget management.

NOTE
- Civic support services do not include help completing tax forms (such as your income tax return) but do include help completing applications for advance payments of the tax credit for home-support services for seniors.

Laundry services include the care of your clothing and household linens (bedding, curtains, etc.) by a household service worker in your home.

NOTE
- Laundry services do not include the cost of cleaning products or the cost of services provided by a business that offers dry cleaning, laundering, pressing or related services.
- If you lived in a private seniors' residence, the laundry services must have been provided by a household service worker who was providing housekeeping services at the same time.

NOTE

If it is, we will grant you a tax credit for the repayment of benefits.

If you want us to do the calculation, enter the amount of the repayment on line 246 and enter "08" in box 461.

>
> If you chose to deduct these benefits from your income for 2019 though 2024 instead of 2025, you can ask us to determine whether it is better for you to claim the tax credit for the repayment of benefits in 2025 or the deduction for a repayment of amounts overpaid to you (line 246) for the year for which you made the choice. For more information, contact us.

Enclose a note specifying the year to which the repayment applies. Also enclose the documents attesting to the repayment.

Calculating the tax credit

The tax credit is equal to 20% of the eligible registration or membership fees. You can claim a maximum of $500 in fees per child, for a maximum tax credit of $100 per child. If the child has a severe and prolonged impairment in mental or physical functions and the eligible fees are $125 or more, you can add $500 to the amount of the fees. However, the total ($500 plus the amount of the eligible fees) cannot exceed $1,000 per child, for a maximum tax credit of $200 per child.

Use the work chart opposite to calculate the amount of the tax credit to which you are entitled. Calculate a separate amount for each eligible child and then add up the amounts for all the eligible children. Carry the total to line 462 of your income tax return.

Work chart – Tax credit for children's activities for each eligible child

Eligible registration or membership fees (maximum: $500)		1
Enter $500 on line 2 if the child has a severe and prolonged impairment in mental or physical functions and the amount on line 1 is $125 or more.	+	2
Add lines 1 and 2.	=	3
Multiply line 3 by 20%	×		20%
(maximum: $100, or $200 if you entered $500 on line 2).	=	4

Splitting the tax credit

If another person is also entitled to this tax credit for the same eligible child, you can split the credit. While you can choose how you split it, the total amount claimed by both of you cannot exceed the amount to which you would have been entitled if only one of you were claiming the credit.

Fees that are not eligible

You cannot claim the tax credit for any of the following:

- fees paid for a program of activities offered by a person who, at the time of payment, was either your spouse or under 18 years of age;

Please note that we can refuse to grant an accelerated refund.

To request an accelerated refund, carry the amount from line 478 to line 480. Please note that it may take longer, in this case, to issue your notice of assessment. Likewise, if you authorized us to share information about you with other government departments or agencies for the purposes of certain assistance programs (such as financial assistance for students or for childcare), please be advised that it could take longer for us to do so.

If, after a review of your return, we send you a notice of assessment showing a balance due, you may be required to pay interest on the balance.

479 Balance due

There are a few ways you can pay your balance due. Interest is charged on any balance that has not been paid by April 30, 2026.

If your balance due is over $10,000, you must pay it electronically (for example, online or through a financial institution), unless electronic payment is impossible due to special circumstances. If you do not, a penalty may be applied. For more information, visit our website at revenuquebec.ca.

Electronic payment

You can pay your balance:

- online, through a financial institution's website;
- using pre-authorized debit; or
- in person at a financial institution (using included remittance slip TPF-1026.0.2-V).

For a list of participating financial institutions and payment service providers, go to our website. If you want to pay your balance at your financial institution, make sure it accepts payments at the counter.

Payment by mail

Make your cheque or money order payable to the Minister of Revenue of Québec. Do not write "final payment" on it. Complete the included remittance slip (form TPF-1026.0.2-V). Attach the remittance slip and your cheque or money order to page 1 of your return.

Be sure to date your cheque for 2026 and to sign it.

If you are not enclosing your cheque with your income tax return, please send it to us at one of the following addresses (whichever is closest to you):

Montréal:
Revenu Québec
Case postale 8025, succursale Place-Desjardins
Montréal (Québec) H5B 0A8

Québec City:
Revenu Québec
Case postale 25500, succursale Terminus
Québec (Québec) G1A 0A9

See our website for more information about paying by mail.

Bad cheques

If your cheque is not honoured by your financial institution because there are insufficient funds in the account on which it is drawn, a fee of $35 will be added to your debt. This fee is payable as of the date of refusal by the financial institution and bears interest as of that date.

Receipt of payment

Regardless of how you pay, your payment is considered to have been received on the date it is received at one of our offices or the date it is processed by a financial institution for remittance to the Minister of Revenue of Québec. To avoid interest and penalties, make sure you account for processing by your financial institution.

Instalment payments

You are required to make instalment payments in 2026 (covering your income tax, contributions to the Québec Pension Plan and the health services fund, and premiums under the Québec parental insurance plan and the Québec prescription drug insurance plan) if your estimated net income tax payable for 2026 is more than $1,800 and either:

- your net income tax payable for 2025 is more than $1,800; or
- your net income tax payable for 2024 was more than $1,800.

For more information, see "Instalment payments" on page 9.

This guide does not constitute a legal interpretation of legislative provisions.

YOUR RIGHTS AND OBLIGATIONS
as a taxpayer

You must provide all the information about your income, deductions and credits required to calculate and remit the income tax you owe—doing so helps ensure that you contribute your fair share to the financing of public services, including education, healthcare and social services. If you give inaccurate or incomplete information, you are liable to penalties and even penal proceedings.

If you fail to report income and have already failed to report income in any of the three previous years, you are liable to a penalty of 10% of the unreported income. If you have already filed your income tax return but did not report certain income, you can avoid the penalty by filing a Request for an Adjustment to an Income Tax Return (TP-1.R-V) to have your return amended.

Pursuant to the Act respecting Access to documents held by public bodies and the Protection of personal information and the Tax Administration Act, and subject to the restrictions they contain, you are entitled to know the information in your tax file and to obtain and consult any document containing such information. You can also request that corrections be made. For more information, contact us.

Protection of confidential information

All information we obtain from an income tax return or otherwise is confidential.

When we apply fiscal laws, we may compare or combine information in our files to ensure that you have fulfilled your fiscal obligations.

We may then use the information to administer and enforce the other laws listed on our website at revenuquebec.ca.

In addition, we may use the information for the purposes of implementing and administering social programs, conducting studies, research and surveys and compiling statistics.

However, Revenu Québec employees who apply fiscal laws or administer social programs only have access to the information obtained from income tax returns if they need that information to carry out their duties.

We destroy all confidential documents when they are no longer needed, subject to the legal retention periods or the retention schedule.

Subject to the restrictions provided for in the Tax Administration Act, we may also communicate information contained in your tax file to government departments or agencies or third parties for specific purposes without your consent, if the information is required to administer laws or joint programs for which the department, agency or party is responsible. For example, we send Retraite Québec a statement of your contributions to the Québec Pension Plan so that it can calculate your retirement pension. We also provide the Régie de l'assurance maladie du Québec with the information it needs to determine whether you are eligible for the Québec prescription drug insurance plan. For more information, see our website.
