Inflation-adjusted amounts set for Tax Year 2026

Division also posts changes for certain items involving 2025 Tax Year

PROVIDENCE, R.I. – The Rhode Island Division of Taxation today provides the standard deduction amounts, tax bracket ranges, and other key items for Rhode Island Personal Income Tax for tax years beginning on or after January 1, 2026.

The inflation-adjusted amounts apply for Tax Year 2026. This means the adjusted amounts will not appear on tax returns in 2026 covering Tax Year 2025. However, they are important to know now for tax-planning purposes and will be the amounts on tax returns seen in early 2027 for Tax Year 2026.

The inflation-adjusted amounts will also aid tax professionals and taxpayers throughout 2026 for many purposes, including making any needed adjustments to withholding or estimated payments. The inflation-adjusted amounts are presented in the following tables.

Tax Year 2026 Tables

Rhode Island standard deduction amounts by Tax Year
Filing status	2025	2026
Single	$10,900	$11,200
Married filing jointly*	$21,800	$22,400
Head of household	$16,350	$16,800
Married filing separately	$10,900	$11,200
*Or qualifying widow or widower. Note: Amounts are determined based on inflation as calculated by U.S. Bureau of Labor Statistics and applied to formulas under Rhode Island General Laws § 44-30-2.6.

Rhode Island personal and dependency exemption amounts by Tax Year
2025	2026
$5,100	$5,250

Most taxpayers are able to claim the full amount of their applicable standard deduction, personal exemptions, and dependency exemptions. However, if a taxpayer's federal adjusted gross income (as modified for Rhode Island tax purposes) falls within a certain income range, these amounts are limited.

If income exceeds the range, the taxpayer cannot claim a standard deduction, personal or dependency exemption amount. The income ranges are listed in the following table.

Phase-out range for standard deduction, exemption amounts by Tax Year
2025	2026
$254,250 to $283,250	$261,000 to $290,800
Phaseout increment (amount used in computing phaseout), which was $7,250 for 2025, will be $7,450 for 2026.

Personal Income Tax: uniform rate schedule

The Division of Taxation has recalculated tax bracket ranges for Tax Year 2026, as required by statute. The changes were made to the Rhode Island Personal Income Tax's uniform tax rate schedule, which is used by all filers.

The General Assembly adopted a provision that requires the tax brackets to be adjusted annually with inflation. Standard deduction and exemption amounts are adjusted in similar fashion. The effect can be seen in the following two tables: one for Tax Year 2025, the other for Tax Year 2026.

Withholding tables, W-4 withholding certificate

Employers use withholding tables to calculate how much to withhold from an employee's pay for Rhode Island Personal Income Tax purposes. The booklet of income tax withholding tables for Tax Year 2026 will be posted on the Division's website. In addition to the withholding tables, the Withholding Tax Booklet also includes a payment calendar listing the due dates for submitting the tax withheld to the Division, as well as a copy of the 2026 version of Form RI W-4, "Employee's Withholding Allowance Certificate."

The following items are for the 2025 Tax Year:

Social Security and pension modification amounts for Tax Year 2025

The Division of Taxation has set key numbers associated with the Social Security and pension/annuity/401(k) modifications for the 2025 Tax Year. The Division has also established the maximum credit amount for the statewide property-tax relief credit (Form RI-1040H) for the 2025 Tax Year. These numbers apply to the tax year beginning on or after January 1, 2025, and will appear on forms and instructions during the filing season which begins in January 2026.

Social Security

Rhode Island legislation enacted in 2015 established a modification involving the Personal Income Tax. Effective for tax years beginning on or after January 1, 2016, the modification decreases federal adjusted gross income (AGI) for Rhode Island purposes for qualifying taxpayers who receive Social Security benefits. In general, a taxpayer is eligible for the modification if all three of the following conditions are met:

- The taxpayer's federal AGI includes taxable income from Social Security;
- The taxpayer has reached "full retirement age" as defined by the Social Security Administration; and
- The taxpayer's federal AGI is below a certain amount (see following table).

Social Security modification – income limits by Tax Year
Filing status	2024	2025
Single	$104,200	$107,000
Married filing jointly*	$130,250	$133,750

Married filing separately	$104,225	$107,000
*Or qualifying widow or widower. For more information on this modification, see Rhode Island General Laws § 44-30-12 .

Pensions, 401(k) plans, annuities, etc.

In 2016, Rhode Island legislation established a new modification involving the Personal Income Tax. Effective for tax years beginning on or after January 1, 2017, the modification decreases federal adjusted gross income for Rhode Island purposes for qualifying taxpayers who receive income from 401(k) plans, 403(b) plans, private-sector pensions, federal government pensions, state government pensions, local government pensions, federal Thrift Savings Plan, annuities, and/or certain other sources.

In general, a taxpayer is eligible for the modification if all three of the following conditions are met:

- The taxpayer's federal AGI includes taxable income from pensions, 401(k) plans, annuities, and/or other such sources;

- The taxpayer has reached “full retirement age” as defined by the Social Security Administration; and
- The taxpayer’s federal AGI is below a certain amount (see following table).

Married filing separately	$104,225	$107,000
* Or qualifying widow or widower. Note: Starting with Tax Year 2025, if the taxpayer meets all requirements, he or she may reduce federal AGI, for Rhode Island tax purposes, by up to $50,000 of federally taxable pension/401(k)/403(b)/annuity income (via the Rhode Island modification). For more information on this modification, see Rhode Island General Laws § 44-30-12 .
